

THE MOBIA D:
OR,
BATTLE of the VOICE.

AN HEROI-COMIC POEM,
SPORTIVELY SATIRICAL:

Being a briefly historical, natural and lively, free and humorous, DESCRIPTION

OF AN EXETER ELECTION.

In SIX CANTO'S.

Illustrated with such NOTES as for some Readers may be supposed useful.

By DEMOCRITUS JUVENAL, Moral
Professor of Ridicule, and plaguy-pleasant Fellow of Stingtickle College;

Vulgarly

ANDREW BRICE, EXON.

---- Magno in populo cum sæpe coorta est
Seditio, sævitque animis ignobile vulgus,
Insequitur clamorque virum, furor arma ministrat,
Præsentemque viris intentant omnia mortem;
Difficile est satiram non scribere.— Ridiculum acri
Fortius et melius magnas plerumque secat res.

VIRG. JUV. HOR.

EXON: Printed and Sold by BRICE and THORN:
And sold also by T. DAVIES, in Great-Russel Street, Covent-Garden, London. MDCCLXX.

17473.28.9*

Denny fund

The Author's Valedictory Sermon to this hopeful Spark, his Progeny.

GO, thou playfome, slyly-snickering, dry-bobbing Son of PHANTASY. That frolic Dame was honestly thy Mother; conceiv'd, form'd, and with no hard Travail — (Indignation aiding) — brought thee forth. HISTORIC TRUTH, however, had a finger in the pye, and (as another trite Saying goes) blow'd to thy making. Go; — try thy Fortune, as thy Betters have done. As Circumstances allow'd, I brought thee up to ---- what thou art; have now tolerably cloath'd thee in a decent plain Suit of Print: And what is to be done next but send thee into the World? Good Hands receive thee, and not harshly treat thee! And may'st thou best thrive in thy proper Vocation of pleasing and profiting thy Entertainers!

I should gladly have had bestow'd upon thee a short Testimonial of some or other Worthiness, or good Property, in thee ; or else to have got some Respectable Name for thy Protection. But Patronage for Poetry, 'shou'd seem, is now no more the Growth of every Clime than is good Poetry itself. And alas ! VIRGILS thrive not but in the cultivated warm Garden of a MOECENAS. Kind Fosterers, — (One Swallow making of itself - - - but One) — and even a tutelary Master, seem as difficultly to be met with. So that, at the last resort, thou must for a good Run trust to thy own Legs ; — or, as some Folk seem to think, to the compulsive Conduct of thy own PLANET : A Guide very precarious truly ; there being, they tell you, amongst the others, a villainous Twelve-farthing one, a cruel Envier of Merit, maliciously more busy with his Influence than all the rest. If such their Creed be orthodox, that mischievous Meddler, perhap, too much tamper'd with my own Nativity: Forcing upon me a radical Itch of Scribbling, nay an ungainful poetic Turn ; when SATURN himself might have taken me under

under his Care, and, giving me a Propension to deep lucrative Ploding, dispos'd my Bent for Money-raking like a MIDAS, or any modern Ways-and-Means Monger that ever deserved ----- Preferment.

Be not dishearten'd neither, tho' modestly diffident. The Question should be, Hast thou any good Parts, or hast thou not? Humbly shouldest thou answer, it is not for thee to say; but that thou wouldest readily submit to a candid, though dreading a vastly rigid, Examination.

Now, if real Genius in thee beam sometimes forth, shine frequently, and more or less sparkle throughout thy Composition, the Deuce or said Planet must load thy Dice, if thou findest the whole World inhospitable. And if a sprightly Genius have sound and manly Sentiment, and (what to this Kind of Poem is essential) genteel Drolery of Humour for Companions, some sweet Souls may take you in together for very Joke's sake. But if thou hast no Merit, no Worth, nothing lovely, in thee, — I can't flattering say, thou deservest it.

Alas, Child! --- To say nothing of Erudition; --- Competency of Knowledge, Vivacity of Thought, and Maturity of Judgment, and a suitable Portion of well-govern'd POETIC FIRE, with certain other Sterling Somewhats not readily to be here, by me, express'd, but infinitely more valuable than Jingle and Measure, Rhyme and Verseification, are requisite to the Construction of right good POESY. Every jejune Poem, or starveling Copy of Verses, is not IT. If these somewhats, &c. are all lacking in thee, — I'd not give Two-pence a Year to insure thy Longevity. Well; mayest thou have equal Judges! May a good Report of thee comfort me, and recommend thyself! So fare thee well at once.

Exon, July the 4th, 1770.

P R E F A C E,

Written when the Poem was just finish'd,
and intended, at that Time, (viz. in 1738.)
to have been forthwith publish'd.

THE TATLER recounts how PACOLET his feign'd Familiar cured a common Swearer, by laying his own Language, penn'd, before him. Though the Story be Fiction, yet such Effect were in Reality not absolutely improbable.
The wise SPARTANS experimented something like it, in exposing their Slaves, purposely made drunk, to the View of their Sons; who were thereby the more render'd Abhorrrers of such unmanning vile Debauchery. Could a Man, of good Sense and Fashion, but perfectly see and consider, in a sober Hour, his own very Person acting before others
the silly and filthy Scene of a thorough Debauch, it might, possibly, set him more on his guard against the like Intemperance for future, as well as fill him with Shame and Contrition for the past.

Why, then, might not such, in a sort, behold himself, as it were in a Mirrour, in HOGARTH'S MIDNIGHT CONVERSATION, or some antick Chimney-piece more vulgarly baccanalian? Why should the Moral of the pencil'd Satire be overlook'd or disregarded? One might be apt to fancy Tavern - Quarrels, painted artfully in Tipling-Rooms, might, if considerately observ'd, withhold real Gentlemen of Breeding from plunging into such Depths of Liquor as might overwhelm their Humanity, and transform them for a Time to such worse than Savages as in Colours represented. And we should imagine, a Man, in calm good Temper, might hate, yet despise, his own late Appearance pourtray'd the very Madman he look'd, and behav'd, in Height of that Rage he was, strangely he might think, thrown into.

And wherefore should not the Effect hold in parallel Examples? Why might not some heedfully perusing a boisterous ELECTION, in which they were Agents or Agitators, (especially of but little if any Moment) justly describ'd in suited Verse, be asham'd of the ridiculous or base Parts which they, as 'twere in Effigie, review they acted in the wretched Farce? Why should they not feel a Twinge of Thought at the Dangers which they, with others, prov'd instrumental — (though, it may be, unwittingly) — in occasioning, as well as Remorse at being any Way, even undesignedly, accessary to, Mischiefs therein committed?

This

This Poetic Sketch was drawn to that honest Intent. Though there are very few, if any, directly and personally characteriz'd, yet Numbers, if they have Eyes of Understanding, may discern their own Images in Description exposing themselves to Derision, Contempt, perhaps and Detestation. Also may be seen to what a distracted and unhappy Plight mere Whim and Fantast have brought us. Why then should it not conduce to the correcting our Conduct, discountenancing Tumult, restoring Civility at least, and by Degrees recovering Trade, so foolishly destroy'd by hare-brain'd Faction? Why may we not hope thereupon that Persons of Equanimity may venture into publick and mix'd Conversation, be there us'd with Good-manners, and see the Company sit, and in due Season part, obsequious and mannerly at worst, — notwithstanding their having voted differently for a Forty Man (as they style him), a Mayor, or Member of Parliament himself?

Though dreading a being surrounded in and by a MOB, especially a pent-up contending one, yet, to make proper Observations, and to collect apt Materials, I, for once, voluntarily hazarded myself even on the very Spot of thickest Uproar and Confusion. At which Time, worse than that of the Painter (who, surpassingly to delineate a Battle, in its various Horrors, to the Life, went joyfully to gaze at one, but therein lost both his Arms by his Curiosity) had like to have prov'd my Hap; not only almost crush'd to death in the Throng, but like to have my small Portion of Brains press'd out, or my Head itself wrung off, in the Gateway, endeavouring, at last, to escape out of the crowded Hall.

However rough, unfinished, and incorrect, yea trifling and silly, the slight Performance be, or shall be said to be, — my Vanity flatters itself it is pretty natural, picturesque, and indifferently full of genuine Humour: Which are Hits and Ingredients not despicable in Pieces of this Nature. Yes, I am forward enough to fancy, that it is not quite devoid of such titillating as well as poignant Humour as may divert even where it nettles, please the Struck in despite of their Resentment, and force them at least to smile just upon biting their Lips or Knuckles.

It being calculated principally for the Use and Service of this City, — (though not to be so very local as not to fit other Places; — M o b s being M o b s every-where) — as well as the Subject is a Transaction upon the Spot, I thought fit to gather many of the collateral Incidents, Similes, Allusions, and other embellishing Circumstances, as well as some Words and Phrases of Propriety, from the proper Scene of Action, and Parts adjacent; so as to adapt the Poem most properly to the Place. The Time of the Main Action also consists of about Six Hours; each distinguish'd properly by concomitant Tokens, well known to the Inhabitants.

Inhabitants. In managing of which, though the more streighten'd thereby of Fancy, I have had this one Advantage of servile mechanic Imitators, and Common - place Authors, viz. of writing Things certainly my own, yea also, such as they are! probably new.

But, as it's not impossible it may likewise fall into the Hands of Strangers, and at a Distance, and live too when the present Generation have all left the Light, I have in the Bottom Margin furnish'd such with explanatory Notes, as well as illiterate Readers among ourselves with a few others, which they may need, severally, to apprehend Matters by.

Now, if the neighbourly prime E N D of it be happily attain'd, let the Execution itself be laugh'd at, despis'd, or vilify'd, as much as those who know any or no Reason for it please. Real Errors, as well as smaller Slips, quæ aut incuria fudit, &c. — (As where is the Work which has of all been thought absolutely clear of 'em ; — since even that of P O P E himself has not appear'd infallible ;) — are, I question not, plenteous enough in it; and may be conspicuous to more judicious and less concerned Eyes, though my own too fond ones may not have been able hitherto to discover them: In which, as the Great V I R G I L himself found Gold in the Dross of E N N I U S, possibly the most censorious and malevolent may own, that though there are

are some * Lines and Passages but so so enough of any ZOIUS' Conscience, a great many more may be tolerable and passable; — and some better than could be expected from such a Country City as is Old EXETER.

I was launching, perhaps, into a too deep Presumption, and abash'd draw back. — And yet, if any one shall think fit to attack, cavil at, or banter it, or any the worst of it he can cull out, let him but do it fairly, above-board, like a Man conscious of his Ability, or righteously so as it may come duely to my Knowledge, and I will thank him as for a Favour, however roughly, or sportfully (yet not abusively), handled by him. If he condemns the Whole in Gross, or any Part, it seems but equitable he should openly fix upon Particulars, and assign Reasons, — in their Turn also to be examin'd whether solid and of Force, or not; — and whether indeed the found Faults may not happen to lie in the Finder. Such sometimes proves to be the Case. Some Wou'd-be Criticks possibly but dream that even minor Poets (or, if you will so have it, Poetasters) nod.

A Man is not, indeed, oblig'd to like a Thing; and it may be just enough in him to say he does not like it; — and that for the substantial and unanswerable

* Alluding to Sunt bona, sunt quædam mediocra, sunt mala plura.

answerable Reason, because he does not. Let a Man be pleas'd at what him pleases. But alas ! to prove the Thing which he may have taken in his Head, or in his Will, to dislike, (or, haply, has not in his Head whereby to like) to the Author's Face to be in Fact condemnable, and give sufficient Reasons why no one else ought to like it, may not be so easy, or so safe. For the Tables might be turn'd upon him, and the Cause of his finding fault may be found to be either his own Malice or Ignorance, as well as Selfconceit, or Want of Judgment, Taste, or Ingenuity.

If but in private only any abusively treat this Endeavour to do good, as is too oft' the Custom, such clandestine Censure is pitiful and sneaking, and is the Part of but Scoundrels in the true Sense of the Word.

“ Something too much, perhaps, of this” : For till I hear what Faults shall appear in, or be attributed to, the well-intended Opusculum, much Apology seems needless, and hardly pertinent.

However,— a Word by way of Prevention, in one particular Respect, may be requisite. To assay a methodical Narrative of the whole (visible) Transaction, I found a Necessity just a little to touch on the Appearance in it of our Worshipful Superiors. The Time, the Design, the Nature, the facetious Spirit Spirit expectable in such a Poem, all, necessarily exacted a like jocular Style in this with what runs through its other Parts. If the light Manner of Expression may seem to over-suspicious and fanciful Eyes to betoken an indecent Disrespect in me towards THEM, such Seem is a false Appearance. I profess a sincere Veneration for Legal Offices, and all who worthily bear and maintain 'em. Neither indeed hath the Muse, though she may have been a little familiar, and innocently playfome perhaps, in the least whit been affronting, or even unmannerly. She has not taken a Tithe Part of the Licence claim'd by, and allow'd to, others on like Occasions. But even had she fallen with downright Invective on the Greatest among our Citizens that acted scandalously and basely in their Stations, she were by Reason intirely justifiable. " For (says the judicious Controvertist as well as mighty Poet * MILTON) " though Men ought not to " speakevil of Dignities which are just, yet nothing hinders us to speak evil, as oft' as it is the " Truth, of those who in their Dignities do evil. " Thus did our SAVIOUR himself, JOHN the " Baptist, and STEPHEN the Martyr."

And should it be conjectur'd there were Inuendo's lurking of some not over honourable Management, and sly Sneers at queer Foibles, in some few, even suppos'd to be distinguish'd Personages,

it

* In his Iconoclastes. Art. xv.

it might be answer'd, Some Faults and Oddities in such Personages may be exploded and smiled at, and yet the inviolable Dignity of their Stations and Functions be heartily respected. We know what is said to the mistaken proud Ass bearing the Image of Isis, by the Kneelers but to the Goddes, Non tibi, sed Religioni; — Tis not to Thee, dull vain Animal, we pay this Adoration, but to the DIVINITY which thou, Porter, bearest. Besides, none but the Conscious and Gall'd can be touch'd by the poetic Lash; — and that Lash but tickles neither.

There may be Affairs carry'd on by but some, perhaps a Majority, passing in the Name of a Body Corporate, which others of them might utterly abhor, oppose, and protest against. Such Gentlemen (for whom I cherish a cordial Affection and Deference) I am confident, have more good Sense and Good-nature than to construe in ill part the Points hinted at. And their Displeasure alone in the Case would grieve me. They will easily call to mind, in favour of my wonted Jocularities, that when the *CYNIC had in a grave Manner held forth against the Vices of the City, and found that People withdrew aloof, and kept almost out of Ear-shot, he began to tune his Throat, and sing in a pleasant Strain Part of a comic Song: Whereby he allured to him a considerable Auditory, and gain'd Opportunity of declaiming against their fa-

b

vourite

vourite Foibles (though) in his wonted, humerous;
more agreeable Way,

To write an Invective against the reigning Follies of the Town, in a Mode and Style intirely morose and stern, would be far less efficacious than to do it in a Manner diverting withal, and in jocular though pompous Language. A bitter Prescription may go down in a sweet Vehicle, which would be absolutely refus'd, by most Patients, if simple and undisguis'd. These Considerations will, I trust, convince them of the Necessity of the harmless Freedom taken, or rather with their Brethren, for the sake of others. As for the rest, —

“ Why, let the stricken Deer go weep,
“ The Hart ungalled play.”

The random Verse pretends to aim at no body. And if any body will, by crying out, declare himself an hit some-body, no-body will pity him, but every-body laugh at him.

As for any coxcombic, proud, pitiful, Jacks-in-Office, or “ pelting petty Officers”, carrying Bull-beef Grandeur in their Strut and Aspect, I scorn to excuse my at any Time ridiculing such stately Foppery. Pride is odious in any; but most so in such as can boast of no Great Extraction, and of but mean Qualifications. The Pride of such is most despicable; its Emblem the swelling little Reptile in the Fable.

Persons

Persons remote, who may possibly look over this little Piece of Rallery, may want to be advertis'd, That in the Time of the last * Election of Members to represent this City in Parliament, one Party distinguish'd themselves by Cockades of BLUE COLOUR or YELLOW. The Seat of one of the then chosen Members soon after becoming vacant, before it was known who would be Candidates for the Succession, the MOB (who before us'd to bawl about the Street, Sound for . . . such an one: or Sound for . . . such! — naming the Gentlemen) resolving mostly to stick to their Leaders, or Alloers, in the foregoing Election, though intirely ignorant particularly for whom, chang'd their Notes to Sound for the Blue! and Sound for the Yellow! — meaning thereby they were resolute Retainers to such different Parties as had distinguished themselves by Ribons of those several Colours: And thence the Blue and the Yellow became the adopted Terms for Tory and Whig, &c. Those who esteem themselves of the Better Sort presently learning them, as well as the polite and genteel calling of Sb-i-jack! of the Filth and Offscouring of the Kennel.

As MOBBING and Outrage are indeed but such, of whichever Side the Question, and scandalous alike, I impartially dislike, and would equally explode, the bad Humour in both. But if

b 2

it

* That which preceded the Mayoralty of Mr. ARTHUR CULME, which began in September 1737.

it be objected, that I ofteneſt thus mention the Blue, I answer that I do it nothing in Proportion to the different Outcries made.

Nor let it be understood as if I found fault with, or would ridicule, TRUE PATRIOTS — (as ſuch among us there are, who aim the Publick Peace, and to prefer Worthy Persons, whoſe Wiſh and Endeavour are the Welfare of the Nation, and of this City particularly ; — I ſay, I would not have it thought that I in the leaſt blame ſuch) — for their moſt ſtrenuous Oppoſition, in due Seaſon, to a boiſterous Faction. No. Nor can they, I think, be diſcommended, of either Side, when MOB-BING is ply'd upon them to obſtruct their lawful Proceedings, in Times of Choofing, for defending Themſelves and Rights, and repelling Force by then neceſſary and juſtifiable Force, even the like Force — deſenſively. My goodnatured Satire bites, or rather gently nibbles, ſuch only as are the firſt Mobbers, or Raiſers and Encouragers of Mobs, and ſuch as perpetually belch out the diſturbg Spirit of Mobbing, and abuſe Paſſengers or the Inhabitants, when they cannot feign the leaſt Reaſon for ſo doing. The ſame well-meaning Satire aims to ſhame People, who would be diſguſted to be reckon'd not of Gentility and Good Faſhion, not only from joining perſonally with, but alſo from abetting, or even tacitly and paſſively countenancing, ſuch Abominations in the prophane Rout.

ANDREW BRICE.

A S E C O N D
P R E F A C E,

Now in 1770.

THUS concluded the PREFACE writ more than Thirty Years ago.. Haply such as are apt to “sleep, save under a Jig or a “Tale of,” may think it too prolix. Yet, as ’tis elucidating, as well as apologetic, it hopes from the Generous some Indulgence; — we knowing not well to abridge it considerably, but by abandoning the Performance to unjust Surmises. Favour may be the rather look’d for, in this Respect, from the ample Compensation made by my withdrawing some Hundreds of Lines, possibly many of the most luscious — [We mean not obscene] — Lines, from the Poem itself, to reduce its Bulk, &c. However tedious the Prefatory Compartment be, something additional is still very requisite.

In Answer to an inquisitive many: That the Poem was not forthwith, when composed, publish'd, was principally owing to my being attack'd with various intervening Maladies, and other very pitiable and forbidding Incidents, which had set it by, scarcely at long length, remember'd. Those miserable Circumstances had quite overwhelm'd me long ere I conceiv'd an Idea of any TOPOGRAPHIC DICTIONARY; — that arduous Undertaking, Labour inconceivable, and Attention without Respite, which engross'd me whole! In the midst of which I was again suddenly flung at the very Threshold of Death's Door.

I err'd in saying engross'd me whole: For all the same while the Management of my News-paper, and all and every the Offices of a Master Printer, Corrector, &c. &c. whatsoever, lay upon single me. I could ill be said ever at all to rest; for when any short Slumber should have some little eas'd my over-labour'd Thoughts, the DICTIONARY, that Sisypbian Toil! still haunted me, as bad perhaps as a perpetual Ephialtes, during near Five Years together, without Relaxation.

Notwithstanding all — (Be tributary Thanks devoutly offer'd in the Highest, and render'd here below, * where secondarily due!) — I have wonderfully!

* Namely to the worthy Mr. J. PATCH, still living, and my sole surviving Helper. O! sero in cælum redeat!

derfully! liv'd; nay, and liv'd to see, and to rejoice in seeing, a very happy Alteration in Numbers of the Common People. The more Considerate Sort growing asham'd of such horrible Mobbing, the Populace have grown also less frequently riotous, in natural very Consequence. Depriv'd of the intoxicating Swill, heretofore lavish'd in Profusion on 'em, to set them outrageously a madding, in order to serve no very laudable Purpose, they have become in Fact much soberer, in Despite of even any natural Propensity to, or habitual Avidity of, the annual Draff.

The Boys, whom I justly styled the JUNIOR MOB, and who bore so brutal, so scandalous, a Part in the Mobbing Transactions of the Day, (and which latter were delineated, and painted from the real very Life, in the Poem) have since that Time totally desisted from such abominable and dangerous Practises. Such their Reformation may possibly have been owing, in a measure, to better Tutorage, and stricter Discipline at School; the Charity-Schools not excepted.

I with Pleasure, moreover, see Reformation and Improvement particularly in our Butchers; those rugged Chieftans of the MOB in their Old Days of Battle. They mostly prove at this Juncture very different Persons from those described as in former Times. Several of them now appear as polite in Conversation at least as other Tradesmen, nor are they they at Elections more turbulent; on the contrary their Countenances appear far less truculent at them than heretofore they did. And, — Who could ever have expected, Thirty Three Years ago, that the Shambles would so have produced a Roscius (a) for the Stage! —

I, for my own Part, (ever loth to offend) am become full easy in the Publication at this so distant a Time from the penning of the Poem; in as much as there remains alive not so much as One Individual of those who were, in any respect, glanced at, or satirically alluded to, in the pompously-ludicrous Touch-of-the-Time: — that blameable Old Time. Nor is there one single Person NOW who can reasonably think himself levell'd at thereby. Such therefore as shew themselves touch'd will be Funners of themselves.

The Muse indeed ingenuously owns, she designed a slight fling, or so, at some greatly offending FEW. Nor now at all repents she. She wrong'd neither of them in the smallest Tittle, when she described their ridiculous strutting Mien, their fulsome fantastic Behaviour, to say no worse, at all Times. And, alas! did I but relate that vile, cruel, yet sottish, Attempt upon my very Life, (entirely innocent and faultless in Deed, Word,

(a) Roscius, viz. Our worthy good Friend Mr. JOSEPH FOOT.

Word, and Thought,) the Day, the very mad Day, Twelve-month after the Æra of the Poem, viz. in Sept. 1738, when the Mayoralty of Mr. C U L M E was just upon its Expiration; — by himself the said Right Worshipful, the then R-c-d-r, and divers collected Aldermen; and these goaded on by T E R T U L L U S S E C U N D U S, of Croak-Hum: All full of Fury: Subserviently aided by a Posse of over-officious Constables, and Mob-Constables for the Day: — I say, did I, as I might, fully detail the vile Affair, Readers might cry Amazement! at my uncommon Passivity, and think me indeed Pidgeon-liver'd, in not having been adequately severe upon them. But I pretty well expos'd their headlong Doings, and satisfactorily aveng'd myself, then forthwith, in my News-paper.

I particularly confess to have tipp'd a poetic Fillip or two on some of the latterly mention'd inferior Great Ones, at whose Head march'd, or rather pranced, my worthy sweet Brother G E O. C - M - N G S: H E, who endeavour'd, by Wheedle, to seduce my very Daughter, as H E thought and design'd, to get her own Father murder'd in the Name of Law. In setting forth his coxcombic Air in the Ambulation to the Life, the M U S E has aim'd at doing less than Justice: As all who remember him will, I believe, amply testify. — N. B. He being highest Bidder for the Short Staff, or Captainship as call'd, procured the said Truncheon to be ornamentally tipp'd at each End with Silver, and his Name, &c. engrav'd thereon.

Born, bred, brought up, and having always dwelt, in this City, I have a sort of natural Inclination to love her, as my Mother, and wish sincerely for her Welfare. And having been well accepted, and in the main handsomly treated, from my puerile Days upward, by the Generality even of the Better Sort, I joyfully congratulate my worthy Townsmen on the happy Reformation of Behaviour that hath in Part already taken place, especially at Elections, — though not as yet to all Perfection, and such as, we hope, Time will gradually bring about.

And, oh! may this my playsome Satire, and jocular Rebuke, greatly conduce thereto!

During my poor Remains of Life I shall heartily wish a Continuance of Prosperity, and growing Reputation, in all Respects, to this my beloved native EXETER — (from which no Endeavours have prevail'd to draw me away) — till with all other Places she be, at last, dissolved.

ANDREW BRICE.

P. S. I beg it may be remember'd all along, that all the Notes and Comments were written at the same Time with the Poem itself, except a few additional recent ones, for Distinction's sake done in Italics, and included in Crotches [].

PROEM.

P R O E M.

HOW Lords defunct grow Cherubs may pertain

To reaching Bards, — who Heav'n explore, — the Strain ;

Who ken, with licens'd Eyes of glaring Hope,
Beyond the Stars, through Fancy's Telescope ;
Puff'd by some feign'd URANIA to the Flight
Where Rapture bids the Things of Sense goodnight.

Be theirs with mercenary Fibs to treat

How Heav'n respects the Persons — of the G R E A T !

Worthies of virtuous Indigence — (For why
May Virtue not subsist with Penury ?) —

Might nobly starving die, nor Half a Line
Canonize Them, or at their Fate repine.

To see them soar admits no fide ling Glance

Towards the Poet's Pension or Advance ;

Whilst Pimps to Pride by glav'ring Lays may thrive,

Who praise the Dead — to flatter the Alive.

Not Us by such Abuse of Verse behoves
 To compliment vain Mortals up to J O V E S ;
 Though --(fram'd of an unfashionable Mood)--
 We'd celebrate the scorn'd, brave, tatter'd,
 G O O D ;

Adore true W O R T H and R I G H T E O U S N E S S in Thrall,
 And bow to M E R I T in an Hospital.

Be't humble ours, impartial ours, to shew,
 In earthly Rhime, Deeds visible below.
 Nor far let our domestic Genius roam, Impuls'd to (a) chaunt but Vulgar Facts
 at Home :

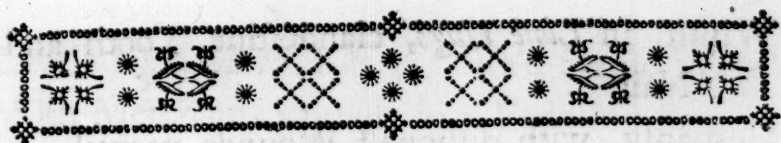

Yet scorn, like (b) Bird in borrow'd Plumes,
 to grace
 With pilfer'd Diction Thoughts of Commonplace.

And may, if well succeeds our timely Aim,
 More useful prove the low, the laic Theme.
 We own it mean, — yet not of Matter poor;
 Nor find the needed Subject fung before.

(a) Alluding to HORACE'S — *Vestigia Græcæ
 Ausî deferere, et celebrare domestica facta.*

(b) Bird, &c. According to the Fable.

T H E

T H E
M O B I A D ;
O R,
BATTLE OF THE VOICE.

C A N T O I.

O F M O B S, and Mischiefs which from MOBBING spring,
And pell-mell BATTLE of the VOICE,
I sing :
Nor that alone ; — for oft' the Contest knows
Voice roughly seconded by Fifty Blows,
And Knocks more solid which hard (c) Nod- dles throw,
And Gripes and Tugs above, and Kicks below, Whilst,

(c) Noddles) Though Noddle properly signifies but the Occipitium, or Hinder-Part of the Head ; yet is it among the Vulgar us'd for the Head entire ; but us'd indeed somewhat contemptuously, like as a Block Head, a Logger Head, &c. --- the best Heads in the World for Boxers, Bruisers, and Cudgellers.

Whilst, in Close Hugs, clandestine Tooth and Nail,
 Unmanly, with dishonest Wounds prevail;
 That Scratches, Bumps, Black-Eyes, and Plai-sters worn,
 Vesture besmear'd with trickled Blood, and torn,
 Disjointed Thumbs, and many a fester'd Scar,
 Record the Fury of the baleful War.

This War, — this Gallimawfry of Debate,
 Which I, — “ Thing unattempted yet ! ” — relate,

This War owns Fellows-All, like Football
 Play,

And, — as if All Mankind were of one Clay, —
 Distinction quits, — that Offal Mumpers boast
 Themselves so good as Rulers of the Roast;
 Makes Titles stoop, and with exalting Fire
 Scrubs face a Knight, and Scoundrels side a (d) 'Squire;

Levels

(d) Country Esquires and Gentlemen having of late [viz.
about the Time of writing this Poem] very politely mingled with the common Townsmen at Elections for Mayor, as much as for Members of Parliament, as honourary Freemen.

Levels fix'd Merchants of Bale'd Staple Ware
With Merchants vagrant in a Peddling Fair ;
Sets Ale-men, Alms-men, Aldermen, in Band,
Tight by each other, brotherly, to stand ;
Makes Masters lift with Journeymen, and bears
Shopkeepers to take on with Garretteers ;
Rebellious Sons, unnatural of Tongue, Brave theirs, perversly, from whose Loins they sprung ;

Flim-finew'd Taylors with a blust'ring Rage
Tarpawlings, bred in Tempests, to engage ;
Saint-Methodists communicate in Din, —
Strange Coalition ! — with the Dead in Sin ;
Smutch'd Colliers, armour'd in girt Horsehair Bags,

With mealy Millers to exchange their Fags ;
Mean Ostlers Big Innholders to oppose ;
Lean Weavers dare fat Clothiers to the Nose ;
Spruce Valets cope gruff Grooms with rugged Noise,

And Learn'd Attorneys Clerks — rude 'Prentice Boys ;

Makes Throats divine, whence Anthems soar
on high,

Chime in with theirs who Rags or Rabbits cry ;
Makes

Makes floven Slaves who frowfy (e) Urine drive

With (f) Beaux who draw Port's racy Wine to strive ;

Sweepers of Chimneys full prophanely rush
On Sextons, who the holy Chancel brush ;
Hod-bearers, and who trample Cob, to bawl
Against their serv'd Up-rearers of the Wall ;
Tinker his Powder black with Barber's white,
And Blood on Butcher, scuffling, to unite ;
Brings Gatherers of Taxes loud to vie
With Gatherers of Ashes — to make Lie ;
Trust-needing, broke, Ha'penny-Pamphleteers
With hostile Bawl bombard their Printers Ears ;
Debtors not dodge the Bum's rapacious Paw,
Nor from stern Beadle flinch poor Rogues-by-Law ;

Makes Justice, warm'd, abet Sedition fell,
And Thief back a Companion Constable ;
Them mingles who gauge Barrels, — or rid Bogs,
Command or School or Jail, — or serve the Hogs ;

Dung-

(e) Viz. to the Fulling-Mills, from the stinking Abodes of the Female Collectors of it. (f) Tavern Drawers.

Dung-carriers, Cooks, and who Catharticks
 vend, [mend ;
 Gems, Gewgaws, Grots ; Bibles or Bellows
 Subsist by Cards or Cocks, Heirs, Hurts, or Hops ; [Mops ;
 Make Coffins, Crowds, Malt, Marriages, or Teach Birds or Witnesses ; Estates convey
 Or Rubbish ; smuggle, or watch Ships at Kay ;
 Cutters of Corks, Corns, Capers ; Every Sort
 And Size of Folk ; such greedy War (in short)
 As for Recruits craves Blind and Halt, nor fails
 To rake the Hospitals and skim the Jails.
 Yea, frail Inforcement Troops of Manhood
 glads
 From crazy Dotards and yet callow Lads ;
 Worn wrisled Crones, green Girls, and mellow
 Maids, [Aids ;
 Wives, Wh—, or Widows, serve as scolding
 Unbreechest Urchins lisp their puny Might,
 And puling Chits squall to assay the Fight.

A

¶ True-

¶ True-humour'd Pow'r of righteous R I D I -
C U L E,

That jeers the idle Hurry of the Fool;
Brands Villains whom Laws reach not, as in Game,

And sneers the Fop's Vainglory into Shame;
Religion's Hood from Hypocrites can steal,
And the false Patr'ot through his Mask reveal;
Degrade bad Ministers in Seats sublime,
And gibbet Judges, when unjust, in Rhime:
T H O U, --- who gav'st B U T L E R, in his
H U D I B R A S,

To swinge the Whims of EACH fanatic Class;
B U T L E R, who cou'd with mimic Sportings tease,

Chide with a Smile, and with Correction please;
T H O U, --- who B O I L A U taught'st with facetious Taunt

Priests deadly Dudgeon for the (g) D E S K to chaunt,

(Dudgeon, which made R O M E's ghostly Gluttons keep

Fasts uninjoin'd, and Sluggards baulk a Sleep)
When

(g) In his Poem call'd The LUTRIN, in English a Desk.

When in a Saint's calm Chapple it befell
 That (b) earthly Wrath with heav'nly Minds
 cou'd dwell,
 Whilst the proud Prelate curst Revenge ex-press'd,
 As he in solemn Prank the Chauntor bleis'd :
 THOU, who shew'd'st (i) GARTH with Wit's poetic Mawl
 On his own jarring Faculty to fall,
 And frump sage WARWICK-LANE's transporting Feud, [Blood,
 Confessing (k) POEAN's Sons the Sons of
 That with unlicens'd Use of mortal Skill,
 Whilst scap'd the Stick, they'd one another kill ;
 Kill without Physick, and, surprising ! see Death-Pangs with Pleasure, — though without a Fee :

A 2

THOU,

(b) Answering to VIRGIL's Tantæne animis cælestibus ira ?

(i) Viz. in his Poem call'd THE DISPENSARY.

(k) POEAN, the Name of APOLLO, properly as the God or Father of Physicians.

THOU, CONCORD'S Goddess! Thou most useful MUSE!

Me kindly to explode vile FACTION use,
Whom friendly Piques, benevolent in Ire,
To scoff down shrewd, yet empty, SQUABLES fire!

A Lancet-Pen, set sweetly keen, prepare
For my Attempt, by thy conducting Care,
The Boil to ope with such chirurgic Art,
Its Point may tickle with a wholesome Smart!

What might despair the Pulpit, Bar, and Stage, [Rage,
E'er to atchieve, though shou'd combine their
May'st THOU, by-standing, from the abler Press
Accomplish with a Wonder of Success! —
Since Sermons fail, let a Descriptive Flout,
Held a reflecting Mirrour, bring about;
With Raillery cut vicious Follies down,
And force to Laughter, to reform, the Town!

'Twas

'Twas thus with Joke to honest (1) VULCAN
giv'n

To reconcile an household Brawl in Heav'n; Whose season'd Check, divine Buffoon!— be-guil'd [mild.

JOVE's Wrath, and turn'd ev'n Vixen JUNO
He limp'd to fill, with Mein of comic Sort,
The Peace-confirming Mazer of the Court.
Each boon Celestial quaff'd, in jovial Round,
His brimful Bowl, with nappy Nectar crown'd,
And Party Heats in social Pledgings drown'd. }

Help me rebuke, thus, our Intestine Fight
By painting it ridiculous to Sight:
Yet, though be drawn in strong Grotesque the Strife,

Be all design'd and colour'd from the Life.
Good-natur'd the Intention, though severe
Sometimes our Verbal Picturings appear,
Who, --- ludicrous of Indignation, --- prove Jocose in Censure, and inveigh in Love,
And,

(1) VULCAN.) See HOM. Iliad, Book i, at the Conclusion.

And, scatt'ring Blame amid the blameful
Throng,
Drub but with Drollery and scourge in Song.

Yet first it's fitting we in Grief rehearse
Our wretched Change in some more serious
Verse,
Led blind from (m) Wisdom's peaceful Paths astray,
And pitch'd in Folly's deep disturbed Way,
Or headlong rush'd from flighted Welfare's Height,
To plunge and flounder in a rueful Plight.

¶ In ALBION's West erst throve a Town (ere more
There M O B S prevail'd than (n) M O N K S so heretofore)
On which fair (o) I S C A fervile waits, whose Site
NATURE to load with Dainties own'd Delight,
And

(m) Alluding to Wisdom's Ways are Ways of Pleasantness, and all her Paths are Peace.

(n) Exeter was once so over-run with Monasteries, and the Vermin therein fed, that it obtain'd the Nickname Monkton.

(o) ISCA, or Isc, the River now pronounced Exe.

And by her (p) Works fence'd from Annoys
to Health,

Whilst with Home PLENTY vy'd Imported
WEALTH:

For did its (q) Empory in Gain surpass,
Though now sob we the Boast what Commerce was!

There did indulgent PEACE (as Antients tell)
And gay GOOD-NEIGHBOURHOOD, sweet
Couple! dwell.

NATURE to pamper yet abides; but, ah!
Did friendly Love, off his'd, with Trade withdraw.

In stead, Spleen, Discord, and Contention, have Flung murder'd Peace in an opprobrious Grave,

Laid infamous Inscriptions on her Tomb,
And voted Death eternal as her Doom.

That

(p) Her Works.) The City being naturally encompassed with Hills, which help to break the Force of injurious Winds, &c.

(q) Empory.) The Woollen Manufacture and Trade in former happy Days exceedingly flourish'd here in every Branch of it.

That GOODWILL Angels psalm'd from Heav'n of Yore

Is own'd our Duty and true Blifs no more.
Sweet Moderation's deem'd a sneaking Sin,
A treach'rous Gate to let Destruction in;
Whilst headstrong Passion and a rampant Zeal
For stormy Nonsense aggrandize our Weal!

Hence ragged Penury hath seiz'd the Place,
And Desolation much deform'd its Face.

(r) Houses, shut up, with dismal Fronts declare,

Unhop'd a Tenant or a patch'd Repair.
Yea some, by Rats themselves abandon'd, own,
Their tott'ring Symptoms, and for Ruin groan;
Or faln, as if by the disgraceful Doom
Denounc'd in Scripture, Hills of Dung become,
Too like our (s) Rock-Lane's most upbraiding
Ground,

Where once were Charitable Mansions found,
On which lo! Mountains of curst Rubbish rise,
To draw, like BABEL, Vengeance from the Skies.

Hence

(r) [*Such really was the Case at the Time referr'd to,
(in 1737 & 1738.) when the Poem was mostly wrote.*]

(s) [The Complaint is now taken off.]

Hence Industry, which, by a skilful Hand,
Adorns, and fortifies with Wealth, a Land,
Baulk'd and despis'd, scarce lives; or seems no
more

Than a mad Industry here to be poor.

Hence we to Swarms of cumbrous Idlers owe Self-shaming Sighs, and Looks of guilty Woe,
Who might for worthy Bread with honest Joy
Their gainful Hands in prosper'd Arts employ,
But that, with epidemic Itch o'er-run
For Mobbing, they the Means of thriving shun,
And vy in Labour to be most undone.

Be yet confess'd the Joy (nor let our Foes Couch'd here a knavish Irony suppose)
That with our abject Dregs of Folk alone
Such begg'ring Fury holds a lawless Throne!
Joy that no RULER's Bent permits to fear
(t) A roaring Lion or a ranging Bear!

B

No

(t) Roaring Lion, &c. See Prov. xxviii. 15.

No Turbulence of Soul can recommend
 One who should to conserve the Calm ascend !
 Nor Candor's deem'd, but by the Rascal Race,
 A Vice disqualifying for a Place !
 No: Men of Post the Way of Peace pursue,
 Though rais'd in Uproar by a factious Crew !

But hourly we in Vulgar Converse find
 A froward Jargon harrows up the Mind.
 One, ceaseless, dull, coarse Tintamar of Prates,
 Fatiguing Sense, a manly Hearing grates.
 Thence due Complacence and humane Deport
 Excluded are, or but receiv'd for Sport.

Contention which, when Night's illumin'd
 Queen

Was in twelve full re-borrow'd Lustres seen,
 Here sought disturbing Reign by Law a Day,
 Now through the Year affects disorder'd Sway,
 More vile, more horrid, shocks with fresh Alarms,

[Arms.
 And, restless, keeps her Standing Troops to
 In

In this frail Age of Abstinence ! when die
The Great — quick as the Little brush away,
And some One of our (u) Guardians Twice a Score

Mounts on the Blessings of their feasted Poor !
That scarce a Month the Sky's bright Burghers miss

To welcome some just Steward to their Bliss,
And hear th' Approbat from th' Empyrean Throne,

[done !
“ Well hast thou, good and faithful Servant,
And “ Blessed, come ; for Heav'n shall reimburse,

[Purse !”
“ With Gain, the Lendings of thy empty'd
ELECTIONS ON ELECTIONS crowd so fast,
A new begins ere a preceeding's past.

B 2

Such

(u) Guardians.) The Corporation of Guardians of the Poor, Forty in Number. When one of the Number dies, another is always to be elected in his stead ; which Election is --[was at the Time here satiriz'd]- carry'd on, oftentimes, with more Noise and Party Fury than in some Places perhaps that of Representatives in Parliament.

Such chaunt we not, nor which in Senate gives

To fit the Town's (x) Twin Representatives :
Sing we but what, in Annual Course, came on
The Day of Old devoted to the (y) M o o n,
When S o L Two Se'enights had oblique }
his Chair } [Career,
Wheel'd since from (z) Six to Six he made }
With fainter Beams in our cool'd Hemisphere: }
About that Tide when Geese, in Panniers squat,
Turn up alluring Shows of copious Fat :
That Day (a) when first, enwrapp'd in flabby
Rags, } [Oister - Drags,
Our (b) S T A R C R O S S Mer-Maids cast their Whose

(x) Two Representatives for this City in Parliament.

(y) Moon, i. e. Monday, so call'd from our Heathen Saxon Ancestors on that Day worshipping the Moon.

(z) Six to Six viz. about a Fortnight since Sept. 11, O.S.

(a) That Day viz. the Monday before Michaelmas-Day.

(b) The same Day on which we choose our Mayor, the Oister-Women of Starcross, &c. are allowed to begin dragging for Oisters.

Whole fishy Ends, hid in their modest Boats,
Need not like Trowfers form their Petticoats:
That Year when Pilchards (c) to Our Betters
shew'd

Too plenteous to be fashionably good,
With whom goes down no cheaply-vulgar Meat,
But (learn'd with artful Elegance to eat)
Force'd Viands praise, of recommending Cost,
When out of Kind, as out of Season, most:
Year since Distillers wail'd the mulct'd Sin
Which sooth'd the Torture of the Guts with Gin,

Save when Two Gallons, fold exempt of Awe,
From crimeless Cogues, as 'twere made drunk
by Law.

[Spell
That Year when (d) CRUX (as by Magician's Ghosts dragg'd arise, but slip again to Hell)

Slunk

(c) Scarce ever within Memory were Pilchards so plentiful and cheap in these Parts as in this Year 1737.--- Some of the Gentry esteem'd them a Nuisance.

(d) Treville Cross, Esq; a certain half-mad half-fool
Squire,

Slunk from his Mansion-Jail with four Regret,
 And chose for once to pay the charging Debt ;
 But, sick of nauseous Creditors, agen
 For Cure reclaim'd the Dun-defying Den.

That Year when in the fair Six-Gated Cloſe
 To GOD devoted, (though there (e) MAM-MON goes)

As (f) Limes had fail'd, young thriving Elms]

[arose.]

Yet ere arrives the critic Day, whereon
 The FIGHT DECISIVE muſt be loſt or won,

Alehouſe

'Squire, of a very good Eſtate, who never caring to pay any-body, ly'd perpetually in Jail : But at this Juncture fearing the Act for the Relief of Inſolvent Priſoners for Debt would affect his Lands and Tenements, he paid the Debt he was charg'd in Cuſtody for, and came out. Though he preſently took care to return back to his ſaid beloved Habitation. Is not ſuch an one a proper Object for Satire ?

(e) The Church-yard, where our Merchants, &c. &c. aſſemble to talk of Trade and Buſineſs, &c.

(f) Some Years after the prodigious great Storm in 1703, in room of the very large Elms which had been torn up by the Roots, were Lime-Trees orderly planted ; but not thriving, indeed gradually dying, Elms were, as at preſent, planted their Succeſſors, and flouriſh well.

Alehouse Alarms, Street Camps, and Kennel Wars,
Prelude th' Heroi-Comi-Tragi-Farce.

Not brooking well wish'd Time's too tardy Flight,
O'er Pipe and Quart, many a ling'ring Night,
With Fronts of Council, in important State,
Huge as of GERMANY th' ELECTORS mate.
Scarce paramount Receivers of Excise
Heap Royal Pelf in more majestic Guise.
Scarce with a Swell of more judicious Look Foremen of Juries kiss the Sacred Book.
Scarce Parish-Warden, at an Easter Feast,
Nods Bigger, toasted by th' obliging Priest.
The Baptist Saint scarce at Stich-Hall may see
More grand the Chiefs of Cabbage-Company.
Scarce a bluff Skipper, in his Realm of Wood,
Top'd up a petty Godhead of the Flood,
With kembo'd Arm, full Paunch, and bully Face,
[Grace.
O'er Punch-bowl smoaks with more elated
Scarce

Scarce strolling Hero in Stage-Buskins drest,
 Plum'd Helmet, ermin'd Robe, and gemmy
 Vest,

Between the Acts a mightier Aspect wears,
 Whilst He upon the Candle-snuffer swears.

Nay, an Ale-Draper scarce, — (who through the Bung

[Dung,
 Once Barrels scour'd of Dregs, swept Stalls of
 But now by Sots so (g) dam'd enrich'd to deck
 With Golden Chain his Heirefs Daughter's Neck)

[Pout
 At Door, in cushion'd Chair, with Grandeur
 Extends his Cloath-Shoe Signal of the Gout.

Talk in Alliance future Deeds displays,
 And scarce a Brag but which its Thousand slays;
 Or (where in common Room, oppos'd in Will,
 Men, jumbled close, Mugs independent swill)

At

(g) Dam'd is now by many us'd as the Superlative Degree, as signifying very much. My Meaning is, enrich'd by dishonest Means; what is too common.

At Variance to a present Charge invites,
And bick'ring Boasts prove Overtures of Fights;
Loquacious Tongues in pellmell Clutter run,
As Breathings ere the Battle Main's begun.

Ale-houses distant vent their Clash so strong,
As if did all to one join'd Rout belong:
And yet distinguish we from whence and whom
Th' emphatic Twangs of boist'rous Babble come.

So, on th' Inauguration of a King,
When greater Six of our great Ten Bells ring,
Beyond the rest we note, each mighty Round,
The Cadence from huge (b) GRANDISON
resound.

PISTOL the Second flashing Bounce lets off,
More furly render'd by a mingled Cough.
CULTER (i) (whom Shares of liquid Bets rejoice)
Sputters his dire Ferocity of Voice.

C TESTY,

(b) Grandison, from the Bishop of that Name who gave it, is the Name of the largest of our Bells in Peal.

(i) Ben. Cornish, the Cuttler.

TESTY, whose Clamour snarls, with Looks askew,

Holds forth as if he hallow'd for the Blue;

- Whilst (k) GLASSMAN, tameless by a Thousand Bangs,

As bold a Clangour for the Yellow twangs.

THROUGHSTITCH (l) the saucy, who, each
Quart, outlies

All * Philomaths who ere mis-read the Skies,
And irritates correcting Fists and Feet,

Is heard to bellow through a Mile of Street.

C A S T O R (m), with creaking Words, half snuffled, brays

Odious as, wrangling, he at Cribbage plays :

Ne'er did a hamper'd Hog whine so abhorr'd,
Nor Gelder's Clarion nastier Shriek afford.

SWIL-

(k) Ingram (the first of the Family) the Glazier.

(l) Throughstitch.) This Spark had his Character drawn long before this Time as --- ' A pert, noisy, empty, pragmatical, presuming, impudent, contemptible, abominable, Coxcomb, Lyar, &c. &c.

* Philomaths.) Almanack-makers.

(m) B—ngh—m, the Hatter.

SWILGALLON (n), lavish of more Roar by half
 Than APEWELL mimicking Owl, Afs, and Calf,
 Blasts his big Organs in a deeper Key Than Horns, and Hounds, and Bumpkins, raise, when they
 With joint Cry open'd scare the chaced Prey.]

Morn, Even, Noon, and intervening Hours,
 Insulting Terrors now besiege our Doors.
 Where'er ye turn, reproachful Flings ye meet,
 And lubberly Affronts oppose your Feet.
 A currish Growl, and a deep mastive Bark,
 Bays you in Light, and follows in the Dark :
 (o) H-a-a-a-h ! with Barbarity of Look gnarrs one,
 Like Butcher's Dog o'er a defended Bone,
 Plain in the Muscles of whose ruffian Face
 The Wish of bloody Massacre ye trace :

C 2

Concerters

(n) Swilgallon. John St-v-rs.

(o) H-a-a-ab !) They pronounce this ugly spiteful Hab with a rugged, harsh, grating sort of a Quaver, much lengthen'd, like the arring or gnarring Growl of a great Dog.

Concerters run to back the odious Cry,
And, grinning, snarl a surly Symphony.
Next flock grotesque around a faunt'ring Crew,
And persecute you with Sound for the Blue!
Or scarce less horribly your Patience wound
With like Annoyance, For the Yellow sound!
Confus'd you compass, leap with dashing Pace,
And yelp foul Jeers with impudent Grimace;
With flourish'd Felts, perhaps skin-deep, assail
Your Face, and rankling leave a ghastly Ail.
Though passive ye mute expedite your Way,
Outrage obscene will after you inveigh.
Nay, thankful be if ye so clean evade,
Nor more material Pest'rings cannonade.
When no slain Cat, Clout, Shoe, nor Filth advance,
Salute yourselves the Favorites of Chance;
Blest if you slip their scarifying Claws,
Or scape expectorated Shot from Jaws.
Sing Laud in Rapture, if unkick'd your Shin,
Though spatter'd, stinking, drips entire of Skin.

View

View with Delight your footed Hat compound
For Coat's not sweeping, with You dragg'd, the Ground.

Nay, if o'ercast, for Miracle record [gor'd :
That Ye arise nor bruis'd, stamp'd, punch'd nor
And hymn Te Deum, as for Life's Return,
If a fore-grip'd, not strangled, Throat ye mourn.

[forbear
What though some Topping Vulgar may
In Person to assassinate your Ear,
Too often they suborn th' Inferior Mob
With vassal Rage you of your Peace to rob :
With hir'd Sedition they direct the Broil,
And pay in Drink the Wages of the Toil.

So those whom Mastives combating delight,
To stimulate them to the fangy Fight,
Stroke first their hardy Loins, then to pursue
With servile Barkings cry Alloo! Alloo! [Fray,
And, when they have sustain'd the prompted
Spit in their Mouths the filthy liquid Pay.

End of the first Canto.

CANTO II.

AT length that (a) Monday which the Day preceeds, [ty Deeds,
 When prais'd the brave (b) Arch-Angel's dough-
 Heav'n's Captain, by whose Loyal Army fell
 The Rebel Legions, now the Thralls of Hell;
 While poor and thoughtful Tenants fore lament
 The sad Defects of the last Quarter's Rent,
 And mortgage Gown, Sheet, Rug, and Dish, to blefs
 Bed, Crock, and useful Pitcher, from Distress;
 That joyous Monday, dawning in the Skies,
 Awakes pert Gladness in th' Electors Eyes.

Whip!

(a) Monday. viz. the Monday before the Feast of St. Michael, appointed the Day for the Choice of a new Mayor.

(b) Arch-Angel. St. MICHAEL. See the Service for the Day, &c. &c.

Whip! the most forward bolt unbutton'd out,
And, kenning, throw their partial Looks about;
Then, joining, to Discourse o'er canvass'd owe Prognosticks how the Day's Affair will go:
And where the Doors first ope for Tipple's Sale,
Time's Forelock seizing, swig courageous Ale.

Now Kitchen-Maids, knock'd up by Chur-
rers (c), stretch

Unready Limbs, and Sighs of Envy fetch.

The Stage-Coach Porter, malapert of Tone,
Swears Jehu, long-since ready, will be gone:

The up-scar'd Passenger brief Stay implores;

And yet an Hour the drunken Jolter snores.

With owly Eyes the strolling Seekers skulk,

And hopeful peer at Stall, Porch, Door, and Bulk.

[hold
The clean Dischargers, with rince'd Cools be-Stoln back — as if asham'd of — finding Gold.

See!

(c) Churers.) So in Exeter are called those in London styl'd Chair-women.

See! chaste AURORA grows with Blushes red
 Espying PHOEBUS sprung from TETHYS' Bed,
 Or skitting Cats from am'rous Scratchings come,
 Or naughty 'Prentices slunk drowsy home.
 The Drummer, on high (d) RUGEMONT's crumbling Mound,
 Beats strong the bold Revelle's rousing Sound.
 Whistling to River waggles Groom on Steed;
 And Milkmaids jocund to Teat-tugging speed.
 The Scavenger drags on his rumbling Carr;
 And Centry's led to guard the Chief of War.

The Sixth Hour Bell with venerable Knoll
 Bids Wakers mind — or Body or the Soul:
 This World's Folk up, and wordly Work attend;
 And t'other's to celestial Bus'ness bend.

Tilers

(d) The Hill on which our Castle stands, and in which the Regiments, at Times, quarter'd in this City keep Guard, is called RUGEMONT, from the Redness of the Earth. [I think, beating the Revelle, we know not why, has of latter Years been difus'd.]

Tilers and Mafons by their Briskness show,
 They idly to no whole Day's Labour go.
 Taylors, not franchis'd, with a loit'ring Gait,
 Till Bell rings (e) quick, before King's - Alley
 wait.

It rings: They shrugging budge a lazy Pace,
 And o'er the Shoulder turn a grudging Face.
 It rings: The faintly few who feel the Mood,
 And Liberty, and Leisure, to be good,
 With Lips in Form to Duty fet, and Eye
 Fraught with Religion's Glance, to (f) Mattins
 hie.

Handmaids behold, who have, in Cold of Day,
 The pious Orders proxywise to pray,
 Whose Ladies indispos'd,— by Sloth,— a-bed,
 Depute 'em to act heav'nly in their stead,

D

On

(e) At Six o'Clock a Bell knolls, or tolls, for Prayers, at the Cathedral; then a Bell rings quick to give Notice that Prayers are about to begin. [In King's Alley, at the Time of writing this Poem, liv'd 3 or 4 Master Taylors of principal Buiness.]

(f) Mattins. Morning Prayer.

On Pattins trip,— with sanctimonious Charms, Starch'd (g) clainly neat, with Pray'r-books under Arms.

[drawn,
 Young (b) Choiristers, from Nest reluctant
 To Worship truant, force'd Devotion yawn.

But Voices voluntier make shift to raise,
 By Organs though unaided, worthier Praise,
 Less artificial Praise, while in the Soul
 Heav'n may hear Melody (i), tho' Voices growl.

The (k) Pile of venerable Grandeur round
 Emits the solemn Tune: Th' enclosed
 (l) Ground }

Anew seems hallow'd by the sacred Sound. }

But whence that Noise prophane? Whence that shrill Shout,

Which impiously quells the Din devout?

The

(g) Cleanly neat. Like HORACE's simplex munditiis.

(b) Choristers. The young Singing Boys.

(i) Melody.) Eph. v. 19. Making Melody in your Hearts to GOD.

(k) Pile, &c. St. Peter's Cathedral Church.

(l) Enclosed Ground. St. Peter's Close.

(m) The JUNIOR MOB sonorous usher in Their Claim of Pelting, and lewd Rites begin, Whose busy Sholes ransack'd the Common-
 shore,
 And rummag'd Dungheaps, for a batt'ring Store.
 Hog might in vain seek with sagacious Snout
 Apples worm-eaten or corrupt to rout.

D 2

Did

(m) Junior Mob.] The Boys. Our true-born Citizens are (Numbers of 'em) train'd up to Mobbing from their Cradles. To the Praise of such a polish'd People as we are, our well-bred Infantry are permitted to fling Turneps, Potatoes, Pieces of Cabbage-stalks, &c. at the poor Countrymen whose Business brings them into City this unlucky Morning: At whose Approach the young Mischiefs, running to meet 'em, set up a Cry of A Brother! A Brother! A Brother! and fall a battering of them immediately. If one offer to rebuke them, (as I once presum'd to do, and had like thereby to have brought not only them, but some Loggerheads of the Shops, upon my own Back) they daringly reply'd, 'Tis lawless Day! 'Tis lawless Day! And so indeed might it be imagin'd, while such barbarous Outrages (as several others at different Times, such as the Dashing up the Kennel-Water on Passengers, which they call Stratting, &c.) are not only tolerated in Effect, but laugh'd at, and thereby encourag'd. With Indignation I remember a poor Man had one of his Eyes thus actually on the Spot struck out by one Butler, who afterwards attempted with others to fire the Deanry-House, &c. So they grow up to Villainy by Degrees.--- Nemo repente fit turpissimus.

Did pregnant Sows for out-cast Onions long,
The grunting Mothers, sick, might cast their Young.

Each plunder'd Gutter void of Turnip rills,
Nor it a Carrot, or Potatoe, fills.

For these ere HESPERUS, with brilliant Light,
Led slowly on the last impatient Night,
The YOUNG INIQUITIES had spuddling found;
Arms from aloof by missive Force to wound,
Parsnips and Cabbage-stalks, to handy Size
Cut up, glad with augmented Store their Eyes,
The Ammunition swells each Pocket strout,
And each Hand bears the Surplusage about,
Till Clown, misled by some malicious Star,
Yare by the Stripling Posse kenn'd afar,
And met beyond the mid-way Distance, grows
Th' astonied Handsel of their volant Blows.
Sharp Clamour from their Throats in Concert rings,

And ev'ry Hand a Root, scarce erring, flings.

A Brother ! Brother ! they exulting cry ;
 And Show'rs, full Tempest, quick repeated, fly.
 Repeated ? Yea, at a contiguous Rate
 The Flingsings whistle an incessant Threat.
 Not half so frequent noisome Ware is known
 On Perjur'd Heads thro' Penance Loophole thrown ;

Ev'n though such vile detested Heads pertain
 To the paid Rascals of th' Informing Train.
 Less numerous a white long Winter spies
 From glowing Hands hard-kneaded Snowballs rise,

[BIRTH
 And Truncheons, hur'd to solemnize the DIVINE, maul (n) Cocks less swift with murd'rous Mirth.

As-

(n) Cocks.] To the Credit of Parents, Masters, Constables, and other Overseers, ought it to be over and over mention'd, 'till the detestable Nuisance ceases, that the very wicked Diversion [Horrible ! that the Human Nature can ever be diverted with Inhumanity] of Throwing at Cocks, which other wheres, I think, is thus most barbarously practised but on Shrove-Tuesdays, not only continues here the whole Christmas holy Days, but commences some Weeks before them. It's observable too that some of those who are the greatest Sticklers for what they call celebrating the solemn Festival,

Were Bacon Sows in Years too stricken found?
Did Pig yield up the Ghost without a Wound?
Or grow by Art in sopy Wrapper fair?
Were Eggs fold addle, or confounded dear?

Did Chanticleer, of Threescore Broods the Sire,
A cruel Length of Drop by Drop expire,
Then, lopp'd of Spurs, and circumcis'd of Comb,

Comb, [room?
Look beauteous in young Fowl of Turkey's
Had breeding Geese, successive Ten Years shorn,
Their Teeth-proof Hides, to pass for youthy,
torn?

Was Butter stamp'd to hide Defect of Weight ?
Would Doll a' stroaking, or a' churning, fnite ?
Such Guilt was Dame's and Doll's; and but infers
They could out-wit o'erweening (p) Citiners.

To

(p) Citiners.] So, alias sometimes Zitiners, many of our neighbouring Country People name us Citizens; whom they are proud to out wit, that is in plain English to cheat, in a Bargain. It's but little to be doubted Pigs and Poultry which died a natural or accidental Death have been sold to us. I've been under the Rose inform'd by a Farmer's Wife it's com-

To Measter's Score ought to be chalk'd the Sin
 Of Faggots small, and sappy green, led in:
 Him, him alone, shou'd Malediction smite,
 When, siffling puff'd, they smoulder, loth to light,

Who, teaz'd for Rent, permits their faulty Mirth
 Whilst, singing, they with Froath bespawl the Hearth.

Dame, Doll, and Measter, finning,—let pertain
 To them to expiate with suited Pain;
 But, for himself, he ruminates, and through Finds Conscience clear of Crime, tho' whelm'd by Woe.

Then why shou'd Innocence unholpen wail,
 And wicked Pranks against the Just prevail?
 He little learns from the licentious Bray, Commixt with Brother! Lawless, lawless Day!

Around

mon to wrap up Pigs in sopy Cloths, to make their Skins cast white. Some of the other Tricks I have myself known practised; particularly a very superannuated Cock, manag'd as in the Text, sold for a young Turkey.

Around the sportive fierce Tormentors crowd,
 Each to excel in Pranks mischievous proud.
 He wistly turns for Help imploring View,
 Cits rural born, made Denizens, on You !
 But, fleeing pitiless, ye rather chear
 The Onset, and the cruel Pastime share.
Ungracious, evil-minded Town ! Had THRACE
For such a (q) PONEROPOLIS a Place?
 Might he revolve in anguish'd Heart, had he
 Been school'd in Letters and Greek History.

With wretched Baulk he'd throw, Attacks
 so hot
 Might soon expend the Vegetable-Shot :
 For ah ! as they discharge, the scrambling Bands
 Quick recollect the Shot with greedy Hands,
 E Which

(q) Poneropolis.] That is to say an Evil City, or rather a City of Wicked Ones. “ We read (says Monf. Bayle, Dict. Vol. 5. pa. 789. Lond. Edition) “ that Philip ga“ ther'd together the most wicked and incorrigible Men
 “ of his Time, whom he lodged together in a City he built
 “ for them, and call'd it Poneropolis.” It stood in Thrace.

Which seem more solid, and alert, to bound,
Like thrown (r) ANTÆUS strengthen'd by the Ground.

Brickbats and Stones deficient these supply,
And on him heavier Flings of Evil try.
Were Dung with those to fail, and Lemon-skins,

Hucksters for Pillage hold vast Magazines.

The Hind sobs dismal deep. Sobs nought avail :
[Belly wail
Back, Sides, Breast, Shoulders, Neck, Hips,
Their joint Contusion by the pepp'ring Hail.]
His Pate, inclin'd beneath lopp'd Hat, to save
The Face, may soon a Cap of Plaisters crave.
His drooped Sconce smart Ruins clatt'ring thwack,
[of Back.
Thence with continued Stains pollute his Length

Cheese,

(r) Antæus, &c.) The Giant whom (according to the Fable) HERCULES encounter'd, who, as often as he was thrown, receiv'd fresh and greater Strength from his Mother
the Earth.

Cheese, dry'd obdurate, in his storeful Poke,
 And Bread of Barley, crumble at the Stroke ;
 Or batter'd the brown stony Walls of Pye
 (Tho' firm as a Redoubt) in Fragments lye ;
 Or Pudding, which did Gobs of Suet teach
 Consolidation, dash'd, admits a Breach ;
 Or dangling Key's from trusty Purse-string torn,
 Or Sheath in twain from Knife, in Trowfers born.

By Civil Pow'rs abandon'd to Distress,
 Shou'd miser'ant he Agrèstic Gods address ?
 Alas ! old PAN's no more ; SYLVANUS sleeps ;
 Nor christen'd BRITAIN a POMONA keeps ;
 Long since the DRYADS left to haunt the Grove,
 And tripping FAUNI ceas'd the Lawns to rove.
 And cou'd such Godlins hear him, they'd retain
 The Boon, till they might opportunely daign
 Him rustic Vengeance in some pathless Close, Glade, plough'd Land, Greenwood, or the prickly Gofs ;

E 2

Where

Where might just (s) Wberrets, Scats, and Whisterpoops,

Reap Satisfaction on the truant Troops,

When, (t) Michers, they for Nest, hedge-breaking go,

Or (u) Oackcub, Haw, Blackberry, Hep, or [Sloe.

Wou'd venting Bitches Whelps! revenge his Smart,

Or belching Whoreson Brats! assert his Part?

Correction, by some plaguy Left-Hand flung,

The Scandal strikes abortive off his Tongue.

Wou'd Gesture threat? Vindictive Hurls more thick

Will scarce afford him Space to brandish Stick,

And shou'd it drive, he'd turn'd the Slingers see

Offend, like PARTHIANS, in a Feint to flee.

So

(s) Wberrets, Scats, &c.] Country Words for Blows, &c.

(t) Michers] or Truants. Shakespear uses the Word in his HEN. 4.

(u) Oakcub.] So the People in Exeter call the Chaffer, probably from that Insect's pitching on Oaks, and feeding on the Leaves.

So rife the Balls push on their airy Run,
They nearly cloud like rising Mists the Sun.
Nor guiltless of at least a bloodless Wound
The fleet Offences from the Mark rebound.

Gall bids him bann : To bann assays he vain ;
A Dash on Mouth dings back the Curse again.
Confound! and direr Words, were his ; but, sooth,
Gore damms the Sound gush'd from up-rooted Tooth.

Back on himself the execrable Vote
Recoils, and wrecks harsh Rigour on his Throat.
But had he vex'd ELISHA's dooming Breath,
Which drove on Pests less nocent mangling Death,
His feller Mood whole GREENLAND's Bears
Nor one devoted Caitiff 'scape a rending Paw.

He weeps, morosely weeps ; and see ! o'top
His heaving Breast big Tears of Anger drop.
But Tears the Rocky melt not, rather Tears
Work their triumphant more offending Jeers.

As

Before him tofs his focial Tits in Fright, Nor need commanding (z) Rhee ! Terrup ! or Hight !

[Steel
Struck Flints cut Sparkles from the clinking
That hobnails o'er or clouts his ample Heel.

The loadfome Clog attempted Haste impedes,
And, fliding, baulks th' induftrious clumsy Treads.

[fcour ;
Yet could high Trot the fcamp'ring Bumpkin
Hard after would purfuing Mifchief pour ;

Nor, till he gain'd the Gate, Relief he'd gain, }
If, by ill Fate induc'd, no recent Swain }
Should intercept the Brunt of mafly Rain. }

Beware, raw (a) Pagans ! who, in Morning's Prime,

Bring Grain or Wood, or fetch manuring Lime,
Beware,

(z) Rhee ! &c.] These are Terms or Sounds us'd by our Country Wood-carriers, &c. to command their Hor-fes by, to go forward, to turn or incline to the Right-hand or Left. Terup, I imagine is as much as if to fay, Troop along !

(a) Pagan] This Word in its genuine and original Im-

Beware, nor enter, though by lawfull Calls,
 On lawless Days, th' inhospitable Walls,
 Left should demolish'd Nose, lost Tooth or Eye,
 Your Passage through our Civic Highway buy.

port, means no more than Villager, or Country-man. But taking it even in its present common Use and secondary Sense, might it not have been somewhat incongruous to have represented him as apt to call on the fictitious Rural Gods without making him poetically a Sort of Miscreant or Heathen? Neither is it uncommon to say of our Country Parishes that they are but a Parcel of Heathens, --- though many of them behave more christianly than many, or indeed the major Part, of our Citizens.

End of the Second Canto.

CANTO III.

CANTO III.

SCENES so perplex'd in just Array to bring,
And regularly of Confusion sing,

Proceed, O MUSE! in Order, to describe
The various Actings of th' Electing Tribe;
From those who marr to those who muster Votes,

Aid by (a) well-wishing, or well washing Throats;
Club Voice gratuitous, or, wiser, sell,
Assist by drinking or by drubbing well;
Those who, to regulate the Stir, — (as far As Law directs) — with Staves of Peace make war;

Or only bribe, or only bet, or bawl,
Debate in House, or domineer in Hall.

F

At

(a) Well-wishing.] Such as are not Freemen, but as being Well-wishers (as they call it) to the Cause are allow'd of each Side intitled to the Quill, provided they bawl well.

At hand's the Hour when Nymphs in Screams acute

Deep Entries for the Vent of Milk salute ;

And PETROCK's Tow'r, with added (b) Head sublime,

[Chime,
Since Day-spring first strikes up (c) religious
Psalmy the Notes ; — though, haply, in a Pet
Did STERNHOLD them to snip-snap Musick set.

Shrill (d) Hautboys and the shriller Trumpet greet,

Attentive Ears, by Turn, in ev'ry Street ;

Whose

(b) Added Head.] A small Dome, or Turret, being lately built o'top of it for the Reception of another (I think a sixth) little Bell.

(c) Religious Chime.] At 8, 12, and 4 o'Clock, St. Petrock's Chimes play STERNHOLD's queer old Tune of the Fourth Psalm.

(d) Hautboys, &c.] The City Waits and Trumpet, about this Hour of Eight, begin to traverse the Town, and, after a Flourish or Tune, their Spokesman, one of them, summons the Free-men, to the Purport of the Speech here set forth in Verse, in these following very Words :---“ The Right Worshipful ---- [Here a little Pause] ---- “ the Mayor of this City, ----- [Here another short Pause is made, and off they almost pull their Hats] --- “ The King's Majesty's Lieutenant, &c. &c. &c.

Whose Warble ceas'd, the Prolocutor hems,
Hauks, spits, and annual Ediēt thus proclaims:
“ The Worshipful this City's May'r, ” [A

Pause

Most gracefully here interrupts the Clause.]

“ Lieutenant of His Majesty the King,”

[Here Hands to Hats full mannerly they bring.]

“ Hereby commands all Free-Men to prepare

“ To choose a new one for th' ensuing Year.

“ God save the King ! ” — Thus toot th' harmonious Band,

And mouth the Mandate, at each usual Stand.

Glad Routs of Little Ones their Haste pursue,

As if (e) vide Pipers strange Inchantment blew.

F 2

But

(e) Pide Pipers.] If any are ignorant of the so fam'd Story of the Rat-charming *pie*d Piper, who drew 131 Children after him out of the Town of HAMEL, in Germany, and with them enter'd a Mountain that open'd to receive them, they may read it asserted for real Fact in VERSTEGAN'S Antiq. chap. 3. [I now in 1770 add, it may be seen in my Topogr. Dict. Art. HAMEL.]

Yet why that manifold, that mingled (f)

Whoop?

[Troop?

Why jump in Confluence yon' struggling

With prying Eyes, MUSE ! hasten to explore

Whence the wild Hurry, why such early Roar?

In Street intitled Highb, by the fam'd (g) Lane

To VENUS sacred, stands a sacred Fane,

Though

(f) Yet why, &c.] Betimes this Morning some generous Zealots of the Parish of St. Laurence caus'd a Hogthead of Cyder, for the Use (if it ought not rather to be call'd Abuse) of the Populace, to be brought, and its Head placed, near the Centre, close home to the Church-Wall; over which, on a Pole fix'd to one of the Buttrices, was display'd a blue Apron for a Flag; whilst on the Tower hung another Apron of the same Colour, adjoining the wither'd Limb of an Oak Tree, stuck up, according to their singular Custom, the Twenty Ninth of May. While the Mob were filthily draining the Vessel happen'd the Rev. Mr. W----- (Whatchecum) to ride by; on whom some of them fell with affronting Language, Hollowings, indecent Gesture, &c. &c.

(g) Lane.] Castle-Lane in the Highstreet, as infamous ---[formerly]--- for Drabbing, &c. as was ever the SUBURRA of antient ROME, or are Drury-Lane of LONDON, or Damnation-Alley (as 'tis nicknam'd) of PLYMOUTH. ---['Tis far from such now in 1770. Instead, a very spacious, commodious, easy Road is now made or making from the Highstreet up home to the Castle.]

Though graven Images and Shields, ere while Forming a (b) Conduit-house, its Porch compile.

[mocks
Its Window, beautious, (Thanks to Lime, that
With Freestone Aspect red and rugged Rocks)
To fanciful Observers seem to smile
That Nature's Works its passive Side defile.
Smile they? — But — hift! — —

Ought we but tell, that (void of (i) guardful
Pale,

[Stale,
To fend against lewd Dog's or Drunkard's
And

(b) Conduit.] Before this Church heretofore stood a Conduit, which being pull'd down, of the Stones thereof (carv'd with the Image of Q. Elizabeth, as I think it is design'd to be understood, Coats Armoury, &c.) was built the present Church-Porch. But whether they have been additionally consecrated or not I find not in Izacke's Memorials of Exeter.

(i) Guardful Pale.] It's a stinking Shame that, for Want of proper Palisades or Rails, this Church's Side is made a perfect Jakes of. If this facetiously satirical but true Description, &c. shall provoke proper Persons to amend the Fault, my End and Drift will be in great measure answer'd, who have not Patience to see the House of God thus irreverently piss'd upon, and worse. Procul, o procul este profani.

And postern Sinks, by Night, their Stain more vile)

[Pile,
Here stands (ah! why prophan'd?) a rev'rend
Inscrib'd to Saint who dy'd, the Legend saith,
A (k) grilliaded Martyr of the Faith.

The Dons who in this consecrated Dome,
When in the Mood, to solemn Duty come,
Vow'd, in a gen'rous Ardour of the Heart,
Unparallel'd to top Election's Part ;
Yet cheaply noble, in Profusion wise,
Save Charge of Malt, Hops, Brewage, and Excise.

So, — at the thrifty Cost of (l) Twelvvers Nine,
Is Hogshead bought replete with Apple-Wine.
Ere Bakers, to appease the maund'ring Maw,
Their foremost Batch of reeking Manchets draw,
The

(k) A grilliaded Martyr.] St. LAURENCE, as The Golden Legend tells us, being martyr'd on a Sort of Gridiron, or Iron Hurdle, when half broiled, call'd to the Officer who presided at the Execution, telling him one Side was dress'd enough, therefore he might turn him up, and begin to fall to.

(l) Twelvvers Nine.) The Price of a Hogshead of Cyder was Nine Shillings or thereabout, at the Time of this Transaction.

The Orchard's Juice arrives, with fluid Song,
And dances as it flashing jolts along.
The liquid Hurliburly in the Butt
Portends its troublous Rumble in the Gut,
Whose Lee's foul Pother intimates as plain
The destin'd Perturbation of the Brain.

The Bells (whose Match no Carrier's Fore-Horse e'er
Could, for capacious Size, presume to wear)
Their tinging Clappers, tripple Clink, imploy,
And ding-dong wrangle forth parochial Joy:
The trebble Discord peals exact the same
To 'wail in doleful Clash a House in Flame;
Nor more preposterous they'd wayward ring,
If did they quarrel to burlesque the Thing.

From

(m) Bells.] The Tower, built of red roughish Stone, being much larger than, though scarce so high as, many Chimnies, it's easy to suppose its Three Bells (for there are full so many) clashing make most excellent Musick. A Country Boy passing with his Mother a while since by, and observing the Tower, innocently cry'd out, "Look, look,
Mother, what a gurt [great] Chimley that little House hath got! "

From the rough Tow'r (which late a Rustic
 (m) Youth
 Suppos'd a Chimney of enormous Growth)
 An azure Ensign on a Mopstick waves
 Its hostile Flutter, and to Battle braves :
 It lately had with fasten'd Strings embrac'd
 A (n) purse Ale-mans' Bulkiness of Waist.
 Behold ! an Oak's Branch near, whose wither'd Spray
 With Verdure shone last Twenty-Ninth of May.
 Might not the Change the Patron's Gall provoke,
 His sprightly (o) Laurel for the faded Oak ?
 No ; Him delights such Badge of sturdy Love,
 That to (p) APOLLO's adds the Tree of JOVE.
 This Pennant scouls Defiance. But below
 Its brother Pennant flaps inviting Show,

The

(m) See the Note just preceding.

(n) I think the dropical Aleman TOM JOICE.]

(o) Laurel.] The Etymology of LAURENTIUS is Laureum tenens, i. e. Holding the Laurel ; as the prefatory Introduction of his Story in the Legenda Aurea gives it.

(p) Apollo's Tree, &c.] The Laurel is sacred to APOLLO, as is the Oak to JUPITER.

The hemm'd blueLinen, fix'd to Buttrice, flys,
And looks a-drying hung to Strangers Eyes :
But errs the Gues; for lo ! its Signal's plain,
To swill and leak, and swill and leak again.

Beneath this Poll, which, stay'd, the Banner stays,

The Cask an Angle of the Prop inlays :
Snug at the Centre of the Temple's Wall
The Vessel's Head is help'd, or helps, from Fall.
Oh ! that we could the knotty Symbol cleave,
And obvious to the Light the Meaning leave,
If it implies — That Topping, in a fort,
Should prop the Church, or from Her have Support !

But we, dilemma'd, and in Search too flow,
Permit to those sage Emblemists to know,
Who thus ordain'd the Manage, what in Mind
By such odd Disposition they design'd.
The Mob of clear Pretension rife draw near,
And spring to seize Intoxication's Share.

G

Th'

Th' increasing Many burn with rival Thirst,
And new Intruders elbow back the first.

The Faucet's (q) Regent (for, as in the East,
Of Old were chosen Rulers of the Feast,
One governs here the Tap) risks now the Fate
Of the (r) squash'd Steward at SAMARIA's Gate.
Matrons (s) of TRULLA's Kin, in Rags, among
The bowfing Tumult, For Blue! squealing,
throng.

Girls, with Boy Tyroes for the Cause, wedge in
The medley Quauffers, and unlearn to spin,
Who, early thus taught Modesty to lose,
Scarce in their Teens seek Business in the Stews.

Imagine

(q) Faucet's Regent.] One Lewis, a Journeyman of Mr. Wills, Chair-maker, was appointed to draw the Liquor, or at least to see that no Waste was made thereof,--- that is to say that none but the right-colour'd Mob devilify'd themselves therewith.

(r) Squash'd Steward.] See II. Kings, vii. 19, 20.

(s) Trulla.] The Virago, or masculine filthy Jade, brought in by the Poet among the Mob at Bear-baiting in Hudibras. There have been several of them too much encourag'd here.

Imagine now that Point of Day when

(t) JAMES

By Bell's Ring warns devout-and-dainty Dames,

There scarce are Sixty Minutes more allow'd

For humble Worship to be trick'd up proud:

The Point when, licking Butter from their Bread,

In clean Frocks neat to School are Children led;

Whilst fav'ry Steams Nose to solicit rise

From the supp'd Liquor of cry'd Mutton-Pies,

And luscious Clamours oft' regale the Ears

With Hot bak'd Apples! or Hot-smoking Pears!

When (u) LORD SINPIOUS, wrung with penal Gout,

[rub'd out,

Since Household Pray'r, which had Old Score

G 2

Had

(t) James.] JAMES MORTIMORE, the honest old Bell-toller and Chime-ringer. The Time here by Circumstances described signifies it's being now Nine o'Clock.

(u) Lord Sinpious.] The nicknam'd Lord at South without. Father Dod, I remember, has among his printed Sayings "Either Prayer will make a Man give over sinning, or Sin will make him give over praying." But this praying and swearing, godly and wicked, heavenly and worldly-minded Instance helps to confirm that there's scarce a general Rule without an Exception.

Had let a Thousand Execrations fly,
And ran anew in deep Debt to the Sky.

Now scatter'd Parties, Drove confronting Drove,
With thwartive Eyes adverse in Mixture move.
Here Helliers straggle in a lazy Shape,
As, flouching, they with Hands in Pockets trape,
Or thrust below their Aprons, splash'd with White,
Patch'd, furl'd, or dangling clouterly to Sight.
Crispinians, flippant, though of sturdy Air,
More blithe, and with a galliard Pace, go there.
There hie who drew from (x) TUBAL-CAIN their Race,
[Face,
With Copper Brightness glows each well-ale'd
There limp grim MULCIBER's besmutt'd Kind,
Their forgy Throats with quenchless Sparkles lin'd.

Here

(x) Tubal-Cain.] He is said to be an Instructor of every Artificer in Brass, &c. Gen. iv. 22.

Here Carpenters shew Backs of ample Square,
Like knurly Beams rough-hewn of Oaken Ware.
There Barbers hop with Brows knit politic;
Here (y) Masons, ruddy as their Cheeks were Brick.

Combers, in Vest by Use refin'd, and Oil
All splendid, shuffle to the lov'd Turmoil.
Here tinctur'd Hands distinguish those who Dye;
There Fullers scud, perfum'd with Chamber Lye.
The greasy Frock of Candle-dipper there
Inspires near Nostrils with a fatter Air;
Whilst to a Feast the snuff'd gross Odour craves
Our Household Vermin from their Planchent Caves,

That, if befriended not by Puffs, their Foe,
Gnawn (z) HATTO's Fate he'd, haply, undergo.
Taylors, now each a Man, with nimble Trip,
Aping a jauntie Mein, there, swagg'ring skip,
Whose

(y) Masons.] Mere Bricklayers are in Exeter styl'd Masons.

(z) Hatto's Fate.] HATTO, a vile Archbishop of Mentz is said, or rather forg'd, to have been eaten up alive by Rats, a Judgment on him for calling the Poor Rats, &c. &c.

Whose Hearts feel scarce more aggrandizing Swells

[Bells,

When their hir'd (a) Text comforts the hireling
 Or while on (b) Bridge at IRON-DISH they stand
 In Visit to their own wall'd Gallows-Land.

Scarce could they wear Looks more superbly fierce,

Was each a BOWHAY or a Bully -- ARSE.

Gad Bakers there, whose sweaty Caps, beneath
 Hats meal'd and dough'd, their scorch'd brown
 Temples wreath.

Here Flocks of Weavers, who this Morn disdain Their Beechen Bowls of Broath new vamp'd to drain,

Keen-

(a) Text.] On Midsummer-Day, when the Exonian Tay- lors chuse a Master of their Company, they signalize themselves, beyond other ordinary Corporations, by hiring a Ser- mon to be preached before them, --[of which one heretofore had the Text Let him that hath stolen steal no more, --- and another --- Yet a Remnant shall be sav'd]-- and the Cathedral Bells to ring all Day.

(b) Bridge.] The Burial-Yard of Heavitree-Gallows belongs to our Company of Taylors to take care of, for which a Bit of Land was bequeath'd to 'em. Once a Year they walk out in a Body to visit it, when on the Bridge, at a Place call'd Iron-Dish they tarry some Time, treating each Passerby with a Mug of Ale.

Keen-ey'd, alert, clank (as they huddled walk,
All Tongue, no Ear) harsh Vehemence of Talk:

Like Mash of Jabber flooded (c) EXE bestows,
When ruffled she o'er rugged HEAD-WERE flows.

Grum Catchpoles, arm'd with Oak-Plants,
huge of Knob,
Indulging Vacance from a Harpy Jobb,
Among the rest with itching Claws resort,
And with a mingled Terror dash the Sport.
Those too who drive th' o'erloaden Sledge advance
With hagard and outrageous Countenance,
Whose Lash Lash Lash incarnate Fiends display
On the hard, cruel, killing (d) Steep of Kay.

Slaves

(c) Exe.] The River on which Exeter is situate, and from which that City derives its Name. Head-Were is the Name given to the uppermost of the Two above the Water-Engine.

(d) Steep of Kay.] Kay-Hill. England is said to be a Hell for Horses. If so, this Hill may be call'd Kay-Hell. Hereon a Person of tender Humanity, and a sympathising Goodnature,

(e) Slaves of the Shambles, with more ugly Low
 Than ere they learn'd of madd'd Ox or Cow,
 Loud, swift, and foul, as Torrents roaring down O'er (f) Stepcote-hill, that rage Exe-Bridge to drown;

Where-ere the sanguinary Ruffains roam,
 The Jaws of licens'd Slaughter seems to foam.

But why is thus Detail in Special made?
 In Sum, we see large Draughts from ev'ry Trade,
 As they in separate Brigades go by,
 Or jumbled miscellaneous in Allie.
 Street, Lane, and Alley their Contingents send,
 And ev'ry Tap-House yawns for Dividend.

Deft

Goodnature, may too often be struck with Horror. Surely it were not very difficult to evince, by Reason and Scripture, that the harden'd Wretches who use God's Creatures with Cruelty, or lash them on to Performances beyond their Strength, should expect to answer for it hereafter, as for Sins unnatural. [This Hill hath been made a little more practicable.]

(e) Slaves, &c. Journeymen Butchers, such as Ashly, &c.

(f) Stepcote-hill.] To the West of this City is a Descent call'd Step-cote-hill, to which as the Butcherow leads, the Guts, Blood, Litter, Ordure, and a Variety of Nastiness from the Shambles, are, in hard Showers of Rain, rapidly carried over it into the River, just by Exe-bridge.

Deft Managers, betimes, with searhful Care,
Smoak Who are Who, as fundry Signs declare,
As cunning Spies to reconnoitre scout,
And steal Advice what lurks the Foe about.

Now Chiefs of haughty Bosom supple stoop
Ev'n to the Jakes to angle for a Dupe,
Who for a Wheadle will invert his Coat,
Or for a Promise prostitute his Throat.
The Master-Tradefmen courtly condescend
To call a simple Working-Man my Friend,
Familiar fit, and pledge, by touching Pots,
Whom they have skunn'd for Scoundrels,
Scrubs, and Sots.

A tatter'd Gaffer is accosted, Sur!

And Shabs are Neighbours own'd without Demur.

Druggist to Pounder tips obliging Wink,
And Mercer asks his Errand-Man to drink.
Grocer on Porter's Arm lays sweet'ning Pat,
And Draper to a Taylor touches Hat.

H

An

A Small - Ware - Man extends his plumper Hand

To shake a Pedlar's ; And, upwheadled grand,

A Tinker to a Goldsmith cover'd goes ;

And Merchant greets Japanner of his Shoes.

Nay, Parish Clarks, who rev'rend Surplice wear,

And whose Assent authentic renders Pray'r,

Whom (box'd in hallow'd Desk, full Jole by Cheek

With Parson) Learn'd in Look, demurely fleek,

Reading a clear Half-Title to the Gown,

We must (g) Inferior Clergy! duely own ; —

Ev'n Clarks lay by their State, and Sextons join,

As they co-equal tope, co-equal Chat and Coin.

STARTUP, magnificent of Thought, though He

Adorns in Pew Chief-Warden's big Degree,

His wonted Infolence forgoes a while,

And nods a Congee with a lureing Smile.

CELSUS

(g) Inferior Clergy.) So a certain Clark in this City styl'd himself and his brother Clarks. We (says he) of the inferior Clergy can, some of us, read better than our Masters.

CELSUS the solemn, whose Plutonian Frown

Looks supercilious on mere Mortals down,

Affumes a Spice of almost civil Guise,

And bears a Dash of Sweetness in his Eyes.

(b) PUMILIO, whose all-penetrating Sight

Through the proverbial Millstone meets the

Light,

Great on the Bench as HUDIBRAS is sung,

(Where, formidable for a doubtful Tongue,

With Him not (i) ABEL on the Stage compares

In bearing up th' Importance of Affairs)

Not wanted yet at Council-board to speech,

Sits close Companion with some vulgar Breech.

Ev'n bulky (k) TUBER, whose vast Stomach
swells

Much as the Fable of the Paddock tells,

H 2

And

(b) PUMILIO, alias Dandiprat.

(i) ABEL in the Play call'd The Committee, &c.

(k) TUBER. [I knew this Person doubtless in 1737, but forget him now in 1770.]

And more the Cloak, so late put on, dilates
 Than an High-Mighty of the Belgic States,
 Abate an Inch of bloted Grandeur can,
 Nor look immenser than an Alderman.

Though these Patricians scatter Vows to fight
 Like Roman Tribunes for Plebeian Right,
 And promissory Patriots become
 As popular Love-winning ABSALOM,
 Yet MOBS true-steel'd and stomachful reject
 The stale Cajole, nor will desert their Sect.
 Desert their Sect?—As soon a Jilt shall rap
 A flush'd new Cully for a fleec'd old Chap.
 As soon the Spark shall keep Connubial Vows
 Who makes, for Pelf, a loathsome Crone his Spouse :

Curmudgeons hate of free Regales to taste,
 And Girls in pamper'd Idleness be chaste :
 They Horns escape who Youth at Sev'nty wife;
 And Vintners Riches with their Grandsons
 thrive :

Upstarts

Upstarts in Office more obliging grow,
And on the Outed Proofs of Love bestow.
CLODIUS leave Wenching, to oblige his Wife,
And TABID Topping to preserve his Life :
As soon shall (l) PHILL the prideless cease to tell [befell,
What Things when he Head-Steward was
Or what Events took place in some great Hour,
Whilst dignify'd He Chair of Governour.
Desert their Sect ? What ! turn a Recreant ?
No ; sooner be incurr'd of Bread the Want.
No ; they, tenacious of their proper Dyes,
Propos'd Cockades of alien Hue despise,
And, firm as Rocks, by Tides ne'er overborn,
In Love of Privilege, known Welfare scorn.
Nay, some, more moody, their own Masters
beard,
And pish at being from Employ cashier'd ;

III

(1) PHILL. PHILL BASTARD, who in all Companies lugg'd in something to speak of his having been one of the annual Stewards, or Bailiffs; and the same with regard of having had his Turn of being Governor among the incorporated Guardians of the Poor.

Ill Names retort, and dash Upbraidings by,
And Serjeants menac'd to the Back defy.

Thus stout ST. PETER elevates his Tow'rs,
Expos'd to Thunder, Stormy Blasts and Show'rs;
But stands them all unmov'd, and braves the Sky
To spend its Rage in constant Battery;
Seems but to whistle at the Wind; the Rain }
Precipitates with Scorn; and with Disdain }
Hears the wroth Tempest beat his sounding } Plain.

Ale-foakers now exert their leachy Skill
Quick to induce the (m) Running of the Quill.
Shall

(m) Running of the Quill.) When the Rabble have Liquor given 'em before, at, or after Elections, they say the Quill runs at such or such a House; and they getting themselves drunk by it they call Quilling, or drinking upon the Quill. I conjecture it had its Origin from a Quill's being us'd for the Liquor's running through from the Meshing-Vat in Brewing. Nor is it indeed impossible but a Quill was heretofore us'd here instead of a modern Brass Cock, or Wooden Faucet; we still saying Put the Jug, &c. to Pen, when we'd signify the having it run from the Hog'shead immediately into the Jug.

Their Mastives up, in Spite, to disannul
 That glorious Law of worrying a Bull;
 And so — preventing mortal Colds by Sweat,
 Or Colds as killing by (o) Assaults of Wet) —
 Reduce the wonted Flush of Deadly Trade
 Of those who wield the Pestle or the Spade.

But oh! in vain they skilful Mumpings ply;
 For yet the Chiefs their Running Quill deny;
 And Testers, here and there, struck up, suffice
 But just a heart'ning Quart or so to raise.

Yet Patience, Soakers! and forbear to dun:
Quills shall as freely as the Conduit run. —
 As ponded Mill-Brooks, free'd of Bar, redeem
 Lost Time by gushing in a rapid Stream,
 Anon, in Season, though Stagnation now
 Withholds the Current, shall Ale-Rivers flow.

What

(o) Wet.] The Butchers, &c. who are annually permitted to beat a Bull (a Diversion which too many of our tender-hearted fine Dames seem to delight in) before the Mayor's Door, throw Buckets or Hats-full of Water on all they can reach, &c. — See another Note on the Occasion in Canto iv.

What though ALPHEUS (p) hides awhile from View,

And seems to bid his upper Banks Adieu,
Fresh, fresh, in Vigour, he breaks forth again,
And visibly flows jocund to the Main.

(p) Alpheus.] This River doth run quite through Arca- dia, Elis, and along the City of Pisa; soon after which it is swallowed up in the Earth. From thence it is suppos'd to run, by a subterraneous Channel, under the Sea, without mixing with the Salt Water, and so to pass quite into Sicily, where it mixes itself with the Fountain Arethusa, near the City of Syracuse; insomuch that any Thing that is thrown into it on the Elis Side is said to come out of the Fountain above-named. Vid. Diod. Pausan. et al. Hence the poetic Fiction of Alpheus's Love to Arethusa. Univ. Hist. Vol. ii.
pa. (fol. Edit.) 406. Note (b).

End of the Third Canto.

I

CANTO IV.

CANTO IV.

BY this, where Houses, whelving, Houses
meet,

And vault with Beetle-brows a shelving Street,
Where stout (a) St. PETER, on the Corner Stall,
Props the impending Edifice from Fall, —
The luscious Smoke of Furmity an Hour
Had tempted errant Younglings to devour.

By this had Rural Blowzes made their Rounds,
On Steeds-and-Panniers, in the licens'd Bounds, Whom grudg'd Half-penny's Fee admits to } fcream

[Cream, Milk, Cabbage, Apples, Butter, Eggs, and }
And (b) OTHO made their Malediction's } Theme.

By

(a) St. Peter, &c.] Meaning Northgate-street.

(b) Otho.] Mr. OTHO CHANNON, the Market-Man, and my honest Kinsman.

By this had funky (c) JENKIN, Friends presume,
Of Pipe the tenth whiff'd the white curling Fume.

[harangued
By this had (d) SKINDLY through ten Streets
With lewd loud Scandal, and been voted hang'd.

By this historic SNARL thrice tenthly spake
His Faculty of — Proneness to — mistake.

By this did SORDID, Lip-bewraying, stuff
His Nostrils with his fiftieth Gripe of Snuff.

I 2

By

(c) Jenkin.] JENKIN WILLIAMS, the honest Welsh Landlord of our Eastern White Hart Inn, so tight a Friend to the Revenue, that is, such a perpetual Smoaker, that he seems, in some Measure, as if he subsisted partly by it: For which Reason Wags have assign'd to such his Smoke the Epithet of vital. He is an early Stirrer, and sticks the Tube in his Jaws, as soon as (if not before) he steps out of Bed; from whence he scarce ever plucks it but to fill. Supposing him to have gat up, this Morning of extraordinary Business, between Five or Six, we can't in Conscience allow him less than his tenth Pipe by Ten o'Clock. An hyperbolical Fellow once offer'd to maintain, by a moderate Computation, he had Fire enough in his Pipe during the common Six Days, if collected into a Body, to boil his Pot o'Sunday.

(d) Skinley.] The most noisy and most scandalous of R--sc--s, whose chief or only Delight was industriously to spread Defamation, false or true, through the Town.

By this hail (e) CHAMPION, like TITHONUS }
bleft

In early shaking off unhealthy Rest,
Had on ten Benches try'd whose Ale was best. }

By this had the Ecclesiastic Chime
Proclaim'd of Forenoon-Pray'r the instant Time;
Whilst Nymphs not prink'd-up with Ball Airs to pray

Sat sipping Slander with their Pagan Tea.

By this, another Morn, had (f) Drum been heard

[Guard,
With martial Beat to chear the marching
Nor were the Warriour Wags array'd to play, }
In Garrison kept safe from Warfare's Way, }
And mock the Town-Employment of the Day. }

But

(e) Champion.] Mr. CHAMPION, of the Swan Inn.
He is truly described in the Verse.

(f) Drum.] Precisely at Ten was went a Party of the Regiment quarter'd here to march to the Castle, to mount and relieve the Guard. But, of late, since Mobbing run so high, the Commanding Officers, to prevent the Soldier's interfering with, or being drawn into, the Squabbles of the Town, have us'd to order 'em betimes into the said Castle;
where

But whence that Hurricane of Voice we hear?

[appear!
See! Crowds in Deluge through EASTGATE
The Yellow (g) GREEKS with vast Huzza
rush in;

And Blues look bluer at the dauntful Din.

For less intrepid and secure of Fame

The gen'rous ROMANS of the (b) FABIAN Name, March'd

where being confined all Day they have us'd to divert themselves and Officers with a Mock-Election of their own, which they have sometimes done very comically, one Party being for the Time reputed Blue, the other Yellow, &c.

(g) Greeks.] So we Surname, I know not why, the rugged Inhabitants of St. Sidwells. The Title seems to have arisen from their contending with the City at Foot-ball, &c. they being call'd Greeks as making the Invasion, and the Townsmen perhaps Trojans in defending their Ground, &c.

(b) Fabian.] Near about the Year of Rome 280. Cæso Fabius and T. Virginius being Consuls, the Plebeians refusing to enlist to serve against the Hetrurians, who invaded their Country, the Fabii, to the Number of 306, with about 4000 Vassals and Clients, generously engag'd to secure the Frontiers against the Enemy. They march'd gallantly through the Gate Carmentalis; which became famous thereby; but which, on their being to a Man cut off, was afterwards nam'd Porta scelerata, or the accursed Gate. See Ovid Fast. l. ii. --- Carmentis portæ dextra, &c.

March'd through their fam'd CARMENTAL
GATE, to go

And quell the Insults of th' HETRURIAN Foe.

As under (i) SHALLDOWN's clifly Coast,
where TEING [Spring,
With Brine confounds, at Ebb, her sweeter
When NEPTUNE drives the mobbing Flood
along,

The liquid Ridges turbulently throng,
Waves hilling on the Backs of Waves swell high,
And on the craggy Upland throw the Spry,
Then in her Bay usurp the leff'ning Strands,
And roll an Ocean o'er the shelly Sands,
So the rough Populace, in-gush'd, amain
Extends on each Side of the paved Plain.

Three

(i) Shalldown] A little Fishing-Town, between which and Teignmouth runs the River Ting, or Teing; or rather where that River disembogues. The Description of the Place and of the Tide's flowing there is exactly natural, whether or no it be artfully enough poetical. Nor, we humbly presume, is the Simile or Comparison quite unapt.

Three stanch Chief-Masters of the Woolly
Woof,

Unshock'd by Bankruptcies, and Fortune-proof,
Chearily gruff, whose Looks of Bus'ness charm,
Grace in the Front the rugged rapid Swarm.

The Stretch of Rabble, Twelve a-breast, draws nigh ;

And (k) HADDY ! HADDY ! rattles to the Sky.

The honest Vogue ascends Heav'n's smiling Frame,

Which in approving Ecchoes bids the Name;

And ever, as the duteous Clamours soar,

Methinks some Angel crys, Encore ! Encore !

On t' other hand, from divers Quarters led,

Sée, growing Squadrons wide FORESTREET o'erspread.

Envy

(k) Haddy.] Mr. Haddy, who had discharg'd the Office of High-Sheriff, and all the inferiour, with Reputation, and was one of the Candidates at a former Election to the Mayoralty, was expected, and extremely wish'd, to have been again set up.

Envy and Emulation sharp incite
By ang'ring Postures to denounce the Fight,
The Mouthy Fight and more. With mutual Grin

They, intricate, to skirmish strait begin.
Alternate Volleys of adverse Acclaim
To pierce with missive Daunt, bombarding, aim.
A Hundred Throats club Energy of Bawl
For Blue!; a Hundred for the Yellow! squawl.
O'er the pounce'd Lip Boars foaming Dudgeon fumes,

And Dragons Malice hisses through the Gums.
Hands clapp'd on Buttocks Fists lift braving dare,
And mettled Skips against bold Leaps declare.
Brow-beatings glum terrific Frowns oppose.
To cope flam'd Cheeks the sparkling Eye-ball
glows.

At pointing Fingers levell'd Fingers rage,
And Mouths awry with snarling Jaws engage.
High-waving Hats with Hats high-flourish'd vie, Shouts answer Shouts, and Habs! to Habs! reply.

Vile

Vile Names, like Stinkpots, though to Truth unknown,

Are, interchang'd, upon each other thrown :

So is by Wolves asperfive Urine flung,
And the Bonafus battles with his Dung.

In Parts remote the Riffraff, Men and Boys,
With leaning Ears drink the infectious Noise ;
And, vainly wish'd the Field's Remove, to share
The hideous Pleasures of the Strife more near,
At once Commotion from each Outskirt rolls,
And dark Defiles pour out new-muster'd Sholes.
With trudging Speed their Feet Impatience
wings,

And, springing, to the Camp of Discord brings.

So, oft', in Bodies, when dispos'd to jar
The Blood impure, and peccant Humours war,
They from th' extremer Parts in Conflux join
Beneath the Arm, or centre in the Groin ;

K

Where

Where, bubbling fierce within a Bily Urn,
 Appeaseless they a new Corruption churn,
 And, wrathful, in vulcanian Tumours burn. }

Bick'ring in Difarray the Pow'rs they find,
 Arm'd as with Stings of Hornets in the Mind.
 ENTHUSIASM, the hottest Fiend on Earth,
 Hell-born, though it pretends a heav'nly Birth,
 Wayward impels the Shock; lewd DISCORD leads,

And mad SEDITION bellows at their Heads.

As Dog (I've seen) on Travel, stung by Want,

Arriv'd at Inn, with gnawing Hunger gaunt,
 (And by Experience taught a just Despair
 Of his less faithful Master's duteous Care)
 In Kitchen, cat'ring, snatch an Offal Feast,
 Or ravin on a Bone, his hard Repast!
 And, bold by Famine, diligent bestir,
 Spight of th' inhospitable menial Cur,

Shews

Shews Teeth prepar'd for Teeth, and Yells for Howls,

[Growls,
And renders Snarls for Snarls, and Growls for
So vehement, so greedy of the Fray,

Rush the new Comers to th' imbattled Way:

Habs! quick engage with Habs! a skrew'd
Grimace

Outstares the GORGON of a wrested Face;

The rival Buftlers maze a Change of Ground,

And each Side, foaming, thunder Sound! for Sound!

As, when at Distance flashing Sulphurs growl,
And to the Down their grumbled Terrors rowl,
The conscious Shepherd, of experienc'd Ear,
Quakes lest the growing Menace burst too near,
The Suburbs round, drain'd of their various Din,
Hear, shaking, the collected Roar within.

But, sudden Awe! the trembling Streets
resound,

As though infernal Tempest shock'd the Ground!

And see the Cause: — Six smoaking Steeds approach,

With lash'd-up Fury whisking on a Coach: —

How hurricanian swift ! No fleeter Kind

Are father'd, in the ILIAD, on the WIND.

So glow their working Noftrils, as they run,

As if the fiery Coursers of the SUN

Wedded terrestrial Mares, with proud Design

To raise a Stud, half mortal, half divine.

Back ! back ! unswift of Foot ! His Life's at stake

Who dares across the Canal Refuge take :

No more the JEHU would his Gallop stay

Than (1) TULLIA, limp'd his Father in the Way.

Less

(1) TULLIA, &c.] Learned and Well-read Persons need no Note here ; yet for the sake of less informed others, 'tis hoped they'll not abhor one, tho' not of the shortest Size. TARQUIN surnam'd the proud, Son-in-law to SERVIVS TULLIVS, King of Rome, instigated thereto by his execrable Wife, the above TULLIA, conspired against his said Father-in-law, and by Assassination murder'd him in the Street.

Less rapid rattling are Stage-Drivers known,
Of Cattle ostentatious, through a Town.
Upward he threatful Course to Hôtel takes,
And all along each lofty Mansion shakes.

Now 'stablish'd Churches fancy Perils more
Than sharp (m) SACHEVERAL descry'd of Yore.
The sundry Gates, East, West, North, South,
and Kay,
Feel joint Concussion and a joint Dismay :
And fear might Gates which the Chief Temple
guard,
Left, tumbling, they expose again the Yard,
The

Street. And this impious Wretch riding triumphantly in her Chariot through the same Street, her Driver, struck with Horror at the Sight of the bleeding Corpse, stopp'd his Horses. She call'd to him to go on. He told her, he could not without driving over her own Father's Body.
She flung a Stool that was in the Chariot at his Head, commanding him to drive on. He obeying, some of her own Father's Blood stuck to her Chariot Wheels, &c.

(m) SACHEVERAL.] Dr. HEN. SACHEVERAL, famous at the latter End of Q. ANNE's Reign, for a Sermon, twice preach'd, on the Danger of the Church, from the Text In Perils among false Brethren.

The separated Yard, to Gangs who cou'd
 Shed a new worthier (n) JOHN THE CHAUN-TER's Blood,
 Did Chaunters still, 'like superstitious, creep
 To warble Pray'r so early, half asleep.

Around the Walls a panic Horror spreads,
 And the torn Castle quick Destruction dreads:
 For scarce more thund'ring in EGYPTIAN Wars
 To Battle rush'd Scyth-arm'd their Iron Carrs,
 As now this desperate (o) deck'd Carr of Hides,
 Twice twofold Murder rolling on its Sides.

Tremendous ÆTNA in his Bull-Face glows,
 From whose strong Hold the Rein full lengthen'd flows.

Chin, Cheeks, Nose, Forehead, all of Ruby seem,
 And like Carbuncle his flam'd Eyeballs gleam;

PYROIS,

(n) JOHN THE CHAUNTER.] A Chaunter of St. Peter's of that Name was heretofore murder'd in the Cloisters, as he was early in the Morning going to celebrate Mattins.

(o) So I venture poetically to style a Coach.

(p) PYROIS, fell Planet ! in his Orbit ne'er
So fir'd of Aspect roll'd his bloody Sphere.
Nor the Postillion, in Tann'd Coat of Mail,
And Ox-hide Helmet, fails with Look t' affail :
So valiant, keen, and eager to subdue,
Each darts his Glance — to run a Thousand through.

Horsemen, their Petronels in Holsters plac'd,
With Crests emboss'd, and gorgeous Cyphers
grac'd,

A cramm'd flick Troop, in Livery a-sort,
Politely rustic, the gay Wheels escort.
October briskly mantles in the Eye,
And Roast-Beef Gravy seems the Lips to dye.
Though bulky Beef-Men of the Moon-fac'd Guard

[ny hard,
Shew Cheeks less broad, and Backs less braw-
Yet whisker'd Hussars, fierce in Caps of Fur,
Less briskly bold to sudden Skirmish spur.

Such,

(p) PYROIS.] A Name of the Planet Mars.

Such, lo! the Equipage. — Shall CLIO tell
 What (q) Hero loads the vaunting Vehicle?
 No; — smiling gravely, she refers the Strain
 To her sweet Sister of facetious Vein,
 Who thus, — persisting in the comic Pin,
 Sings What, — not Who, — the mighty MARS within.

A shot-free Warrior, who, in Home Campaigns,
 Commands Dog - Armies, and Dog-kindred [Swains;
 And, train'd a modern NIMROD of the Field,
 Makes modern Wild-Beasts -- of the Paddock -- yield,
 That not HIRCANIA's Forest-Records tell
 There Tygers by so vast a Havock fell
 As fall the dreadful'st Harts, whilst boldest Hares
 Are vanquish'd easily as RUSSIA's Bears.

Brave

(q) Heroe.] This Picture of a Coach and Six, &c. was drawn from the Life, allowing for poetic Embellishment.---
 [This Gentleman was some Honourary-Freeman; though indeed, and in serious and solemn Truth, I have forgot particularly Who.]

Bravely as sharp-set TROJANS, for their Food,
Fought Harpies, he assaults Cocks o' the Wood :
Undaunted as an Afric Hunter tracks
The Ostrich, he fell Patridges attacks ;
And fets a more inhospitable Way
With Blood of Snipes, — and such dire Fowls of Prey !

Ev'n HE, for Country's Good, leaves Country
Chace,

To head some City Dregs of Populace ;
Leaves the symphonious Howlings of the Hound,
That Packs of Human Barkers may furround,
And with more savage Harmony cry Sound !

But hush ! For lo ! a more than tuneful
Strain

Enchants the Ear : A long and noble Train,
Approaching, captivates my dazzled Eye,
So bright, scarce MORN so brightly gilds the Sky.

L

Say,

Say, whose the Tweadle-tweadle sweet, who those

That the long bright Proceſſion thus compoſe,
In Order, as, with too impeded Speed,
They their ſuperior Chiefs-of-Rule precede.

In prime ; a ſpruce yet formidable Clan
Come marching, as the Civil Army's Van,
Hight Conſtables, well knowing of their Weight,
And Title, once (r) imperial of Conceit.
His Step each fortifies with Staff, full quaint
With Decorations of refulgent Paint :
As TROJANS truſty, (s) with a righteous View
Cull'd all to act impartial——for the Blue.

How

(r) Conſtable being deriv'd from Koning-ſtable, and from Koning comes the abbreviated Title King.

(s) With a righteous View.] All the Conſtables are of the Blue Party, as the Party affects to be intitled. Their being thus cull'd is a notable Inſtance of Juſtice and Impartiality ! And who can ſuſpect an ill Cauſe to be under-hand ſerv'd thereby, ſince Magiſtrates of any Honour and Conſcience would deteſt and ſcorn any vile Management ? To be ſure their candid and neighbourly Deſign is only to take the Trouble of keeping Peace, &c. &c. off the Hands of others.

How wise, how just, the Project thus to bar
 Against the Perils of unnat'ral War!
 For when the wicked God of Faction finds
 An equal Pow'r plac'd with repugnant Minds,
 In Colleague Breasts he kindles hostile Spite,
 And goads the very Guards of Peace to fight:
 Whilst here's the sole Contention and the Pride,
 Who best can baffle on the rightful Side.

But — softly, MUSE : — That Leader ONE display,
 Who struts such an important (t) A PER SE.

Of bonny Port, a-head the gallant rest,
 His tipp'd Battoon now stay'd an-end on Breast,
 Now in his Grip—(too dignify'd to wield
 A Pestle more !) — by the pois'd Middle held,

L 2

With

(t) A PER SE.] That is to say an A by himself; the Van-leader of the Alphabet, the heading Letter, the very Alpha, the Prime of all the subsequent ones. CHAUCER uses the Phrase, and it is a very significant one. I abhor no expressive Words for their being antique.

With most puissant Sail their (u) chosen Chief Steers his rigg'd Pageantry of Manly Beef.

What happy Union in his Eye we see!

Where Sweetness has espous'd Ferocity!

Parts in his Frame PARIS and HECTOR crave;
Strong, elegant, brisk, beautiful, and brave.

With less Decorum Christmas Mummers strut
Than on He bears his goodly Grace of Guts,
Though that same Mummers (x) ENGLAND'S HEROE plays,

And Dragon with his Whineard's Flourish flays.

No

(u) CYANUS, al. GEORGE, the Druggist, who gat to be the Captain Constable by bidding highest for the Short Staff, and procured it to be tipp'd at each End with Silver, his Name engrav'd thereon, with the Date of the Year.

(x) England's Heroe.] St. George for England. At Christmas are (or at least very lately were) Fellows wont to go about from House to House in Exeter a mumming; one of whom, in a (borrow'd) Holland Shirt, most gorgeously be-ribbon'd, over his Waistcoat, &c. flourishing a Faulchion, very valiantly entertains the admiring Spectators thus:

" Oh! here comes I Saint George, a Man of Courage bold,

" And with my Spear I winn'd three Crowns of Gold.

" I slew the Dragon, and brought him to the Slaughter;

" And by that very means I married Sabra, the beauteous

" King of Egypt's Daughter. — Play Musick."

No HAMLET's Ghost can more majestic hold
 His Truncheon, nor Stage-HANNIBAL so bold;
 Nor one of all the (y) Raggamuffian Guard
 Of South'nhay Fair more stately bears the Yard.
 See! whilst aright wide-throated Franticks shout,
 With nodded Thanks he cheers the rascal Rout;
 His Ruffle shak'd encourages the Roar, [o'er.
 And smil'd Rewards his gracious Muns flood

Next (z) BEADLES (as in Packs of Cards be
 (a) Knaves,

Two Couple just) with Brazen-headed Staves,
 In

(y) Raggamuffian Guard.] A Fair being held in our Southernhay Aug. 1. a Parcel of most be-tatter'd Fellows, furnish'd with Truncheons, of about a Yard in Length (and therefrom, I suppose, denominated Yards-men) are sworn to keep the Peace, &c. &c. &c.

(z) Beadles.] Those whom we commonly call Stave- bearers, from the Staves with large brazen Heads which they carry in their Hands on Duty. In the Christmas Quarter they become Bell-men of the Night, and thump carefully and frightfully at our Doors, at every Turn repeating, in the most abominable manner that can possibly be conceiv'd a Bull-dog could by the Gift of Speech pronounce with a Flint-stone in his Mouth, the most wretched and hideous
 Rhymes ever made by the vilest Devil of a Poet. See p. 83.

(a) Knaves.] or Gnaves, The Name originally means
 no

In tuck'd Blue Vests, and Bonnets Gold of Brim, (What Turk's Head Sign stares, tho' mustach'd, so grim ?

Whose Brows o'erwhelm'd with (b) Varlet
Haughtiness

Them signalize Journeymen-Justices,
March, throwing Looks of Magistracy round,
As if to menace Stocks, Backgate, or Pound ;
(Stocks for th' Unupright, or poor Swearer's Feet,

And Pound for Hogs caught vagabond in Street;
Where starving oft' the Strollers wail, attack'd
By trading Justice on the Vagrant Act).

The Staves they bear, — from whence Stave- bearers we

Them call,—are Staves of Vassal Dignity ;
Not those which in black Winter Nights with Knock

From Rest us startle — but to learn the Clock,
Or

no worse than mere Servants, (thus in an old Translation, Paul a knave of Jesus Christ), or Serjeants, Servientes.

(b) Varlet, perhaps, meant little more formerly than does Valet now.

Or feel tremendous Rhyme, in mumbling wise
Croak'd horrible, our tingling Ears chastise,
When dismal Voice, and dismal Clink of Bell, Inflict Good-Morrows with (c) Death, Judgment, Hell.

Minstrels, in Cloaks, for Age how reverend !
From whose grac'd Necks priz'd Silver Chains depend, [blow
Come, whose Bassoon, Trump, and Recorders
Extatic Glee before the Grandee Show ;
Whilst on each Side a Vocal Thunder peals,
And far and wide the walking Pomp reveals ;

Crowds upon Crowds, as in capricious Trance,
As if to ramm the starting Pavement dance.

The

(c) Death, &c.] This respects these their Verses (which indeed may be esteem'd their best) viz.

" There is Four Things consider well,

" Death, Judgment, Heaven, and Hell;

" Which if in Cause you do neglect,

" Unquiet Rest you may expect ;

" Good-morrow Mr. Such an one (Thump !) &c. &c. &c.

Though I am apt to fear that if in Cause many among us did not neglect to consider of these Four Things, they would take less quiet Rest than usually they take.

The trampled Stones resound, and ev'ry Door
And Casement rattle at the glad Uproar.

So when sweet ORPHEUS struck the artful
Chords,
That eloquently warbled magic Words,
A frisky Joy Bulls, Boars, and Bears possess'd,
And Apes and Affes vy'd to caper best;
Dales, Hills, and Woods, and Rocks, and Dens around,
Kept Time in Rapture at the quick'ning Sound.

In gorgeous Robes, and Hats superb of Lace,
Four Serjeants follow, each with mighty Mace;
Not those dull (d) piteous Toys which heretofore
HAIN, OXENBERE, EVANS, and STAPLEHILL bore,

Whose

(d) Toys.] They have now very handsome Maces. But their former ones were such pitiful Things as might deserve Ridicule almost as well as the Mace of Lydford, describ'd by the old Poet Mr. Brown thus,

- A Piece of Coral to the Mace,
- Which there I saw to serve in Place,
- Might make a good Child's Whistle.'

But ours, I confess, might have been converted into tolerable Punch-Ladles.

Whose hollow Knobs, and Stems minute and short,
 Shew'd as for Rattles made and Childrens Sport,
 But crown'd, and so magnificent in Mode,
 They'd worthily Four Heralds Shoulders load.

Be-crown'd with Cap of an Umbrella's Size,
 Rich Velvet, richer in Embroideries,
 Comes burley He, who, as of Spades the King,
 Bears Sword erect ;— a fine and fearful Thing.
 Cou'd Duke inrob'd at Coronation e'er [bear ?
 With Gait more courtly the (e) CURTANA
 Or cou'd a (f) Liſtor's Ax and Fasces ſpread,
 If drawn from its fair Scabbard, keener Dread ?

Behind this Guardian Armour-bearer pace
 The PRÆTOR and his PEERS, Brace after Brace;
 Ah! too oppreſs'd to ambling ſweep along
 Through the Ten-deep, cloſe-thruſting, noiſy Throng,

M

Though

(e) Curtana.] The unpointed Sword borne at Coronations.

(f) Liſtor's Ax and Fasces.] Such were borne before the Conſuls and Emperors of antient Rome.

Though is with Bustle a streight Alley made,
And pious Bowings own the dread Parade.

Who, and how dignify'd, grave Goodefs, say
The Sages of the Worshipful Array :

Say, has LYCURGUS here assum'd the Gown,
And SOLON, Side by Side, took Rule in Town ?
Say MUSE. No : — Cautious of Construction wrong,

A trembling Veneration checks the Song.
Nor She those Graces hopes to deck her Lays
Which join'd whilom in SIR JOHN ADEE's Praise, Whence Bays so vast forestalling (g) BARRET won,

He hardly left a Leaf to browse upon ;
Who PHOEBUS' Son thrice told ! his own Work
fung,

[rung ;
Whilst, hackling sawn, his Grumbler - Viol
That

(g) Barret.] A Fellow who went about with a Base-Viol (though he never could play one Tune in his Life) on which he, as we may say, hack'd and saw'd a grumbling gruff Noise, calling it playing Base. He was the Author of the Ballad on Mr. Adee, who assum'd, in Joke, the Title of Sir John Adee. See more in a succeeding Note.

That ne'er so gruff a Melody cou'd spring
 From a Moriscan Bladder-and-a-String.
 Time-nicking Bard ! who with such cogent Ease
 Could'tt the refined Taste of CHAMBER please !

Thus the like rustic lucky Lays could bring
 On PAN the laudful Judgment of a (b) King.

That chosen Band whom we the Vaward saw,
 The executive Potence of our Law,
 Ent'ring the Roof of Justice, Strife, and Storm,
 With order'd Staffs a Lane, detruding, form ;
 Which ere CHIEF-RULERS through can penetrate, [Gate ;
 Th' impatient Million jaumbing choak the
 And there might stick, but that th' effective
 Sway
 Of backing Shovers clears th' obstructed Way.
 Rough Anarchy floods blund'ring in amain,
 And surly Riot chafes perverse to reign.

M 2

Routs,

(b) King.] Viz. MIDAS, who decree'd the Prize to PAN, even against the God of Musick and Poetry himself, APOLLO, or PHOEBUS.

Routs, after Routs, 'fore-stumbling Routs
displace,

Then to new Forcers yield the seized Space,

The vaunting Hectors of athletic Frame,

Whom does Exonian Speech (i) RUMBULLIANS name,

[scorn
Cleave with tempest'ous Drift the Prefs, and
To find a Passage, since to make it born.

Like that bold (k) Keel which broke strong VIGO's Boom,

[Room :
The headlong Ruffians burst themselves a
The

(i) Rumbullians.] We Exonians, who have some Words peculiar, I believe, to ourselves, call furious, headstrong, headlong, boisterous Men, Rumbullian Fellows.

(k) Keel.] Keel, as poetically does Carina in Latin, heretofore signify'd a whole Ship. But without having Recourse to such its old Meaning, or to a Figure in Rhetorick, it is properly enough us'd in its present Acceptation of only Part of a Ship. The Exploit here referr'd to is in the Expedition at Vigo, in 1702, when Admiral Hopson, in the Torbay, cutting his Cables, and clapping on all his Sails, bore up upon the Boom laid across the Streight, and broke through it at once; though it was made up of Masts, Yards, Cables, Top-Chains, and Casks, fasten'd together with Ropes, several Yards in Circumference, under-run with Hauzers and Cables, and kept steady by Anchors cast on both Sides of it.

The Numbers, swagging, on each Flank give
way ;

For Force must over-bearing Force obey.

Thus, mid-way the Canal (l), where

Drudges flow

[tow,

To (m) Isca's Port Ship, Barque, and Lighter

With massy Bars Wights of herculean Brood

Sluice-Fenders lift, to equalize the Flood ;

O'er violent the eager Waters gush

Through the small Opes, and onward roaring push,

Dash rapid on the staky Banks, the Soil

And Pebbles thence expel, high-froathing boil,

And the whirl'd Pond with mad Contest imbroil.

But

(l) Canal.] There is a Passage cut for Ships to and from Topham, vulgarly call'd the Ha'en, corruptly, or contractedly, for Haven. The particular Place here meant is what we properly enough call the Double Lock. The Description of the Water's violently gushing thro' the Sluice, &c. is precisely natural and just.

(m) Isca's Port.] The Kay of Exeter.

But heark! That Bell which yells a swift Alarm

[too warm,
When (n) guilty Hearths inflame the Town
Now, on the Guildhall's lofty Forehead swings,
And, quick, around its warnful Tinkle flings.
Its Jingles to more close Attendance call
Attending Freemen in th' interiour Hall.

Up Stairs direct fair Ceremony leads Sedate to Consult the determin'd HEADS :
For wifts Suspicion, hank'ring near the Door,
The Consult's but of Things resolv'd before.

But not behoves it our mean MUSE to learn
State Mysteries of such a high Concern.
Let her, content, a surer 'Track pursue,
And sing but Matters level with her View.
And what though Tongues of Virulence may flirt

Their low Aspersions of malignant Dirt,

Short

(n) When Chimneys are on fire, this Alarm Bell is rung ;
and the Inhabitant of that House whose Chimney was in a Blaze, is to suffer a Fine.

Short of the Reach are the foul Slanders shot,
Scorn'd and derided, nor at all bespot.

So the firm Guildhall high erects its Head,
And, while Straw-Bonfires choaking Darknes
spread,
Its brisk Serene's scarce fully'd by the Cloud,
Nor dreads the Rage of widen'd Gutter's Flood,
Heedless sees wizzing Squibs and Crackers fly,
And bids the Rocket's direr Bounce Defie.

But worshipful last Year's Triumvirate,
The Leash who aid the PRÆTOR's Chair of State,
Share his Fatigues of Law, nor let, 'tis said,
His Worship ev'n at Dinner want their Aid,
But help at taking Bowl as well as Bail,
At stuffing Jerkins as at stuffing Jail,
Call'd STEWARDS now, but erst were BAILIFFS
nam'd,
Ere Catchpoles had the honest Style defam'd)

In

In sable Robes, which on the Shoulders rise
 In solemn fort, and shape the Aspect wise,
 Prefide at Board below, — or haply treat,
 Their apt Ambition with the Judgment Seat.

With Warrants stamp'd on each officious
 Face

Staff-Officers, too, seize th' internal Place :
 Thick as the Darts which mounts the Porcupine
 Their Arms erect with gilded Glory shine.

Now Walnuts crackle 'tween the Grinder
 Jaws,

And busily engage the peeling Claws ;
 While brisk the Glass, with whittling Sherris
 crown'd, [goes round ;
 Quips, Bams, and Bobs, and waggish Fraud,
 Jokes which did Isca pride in, when 'twas Wit
 To twirl the Hat, twitch Wig, or Knuckles hit,
 To tickle with a Straw, or splash your Shin,
 Distort the Face, twick Ear, or thrust a Pin.

A Monkey so by Mows and Frisks attests
Himself the Wit most parlous of the Beasts.
But most of Wit claims he who greatest Share
Of Nuts can scrabble, or of Bottle clear.

The chewing Bibbers strike with envious
Pain

The Routs behind, who suck their Lips in vain,
Unless some noting Friend-in-Court bestow
A Bumper,—or for Kindness,—or for Show.

Mean while those Courtiers, thus at Banquet,
loud,

Keep Time symphonious with the outer Crowd,
Who, burning to the Strife, in Toil rejoice,
Profuse of Sweat, and prodigal of Voice;
And as they more imbibe the hostile Jar,
They thirst the more insatiate of the War.

Less, and less furious, swells the mingled Roar,
When Winds and Billows storm at once the Shore.

N

For

For Colour chiefly the Disputes abound,
 And Rants for the momentous Best of Sound.
 Some for the Yellow hoarsly yell, and some Belch grossly Blue! -- unknowing both for whom.

¶ A Moment now again to roofless Air,
 For more distinct Inspection, MUSE! repair;
 The baleful Fruits of rougher Strife explore,
 Or young in Bud, or rotting-ripe at Core.

Around pay'd Eyes see fervent Risings glow,
 Of Cast more various than the Show'ry-Bow;
 And Tints of Or and Azure on the Cheeks,
 The Blue and Yellow, striving Hues, connix
 A fady Green, which Vert learn'd Heralds call,
 And Gules and Sables, Red and Black, withal.
 See halting Legs fore to the Sense proclaim Their Wrench by Wrestlings, or by Spurns their Maim.

See, squalid Patches on the bunch'd Brows tell
 What Knuckles have bang'd up a motly Swell.

See

See, clotty Stains, red, dribbled on the Clothes,
Mark Civil Blood shed by uncivil Foes,
Whose unbroke Buffet, or ill-warded Poach,
The Temples scarr'd, or set the Nose abroach.

Survey that Tow'r of Flesh with sawcy Pride
Grieving yond' Pillar with his leaning Side,
As if an Ape of SAMPSON bent to move
The Frontier Columns from their Charge above.
What Name soe'r might his first Sponsors chuse,
The licens'd Verse shall that of CARNAGE use.
Reserv'd of Voice, compact of Force, he stands,
Morose & glum, with cross'd imbosom'd Hands.
His gloomy Looks affect a sterner Air
Than HOGARTH's (o) hack'd grim Swordsman
in the Fair,

And, glouting scornful, with Defiance watch
For some Mob-AJAX, sole a worthy Match ;
Nor own him yet ; but with disdainful Toes
He mean-time spurns approaching meaner Foes.

N 2

So,

(o) See Southwark Fair by HOGARTH.

So, as the Bull at Stake like grimly stands,
 And lours a Challenge to the Shamble-Bands,
 Stout duels all their brindled Mastives round,
 And casts them, falling, to impress the Ground;
 Though Three ally'd shot on he'd work to fling,
 Beyond the Safeguard of the partial Ring;
 Yet fanghless Whelps play'd yelping on he'd scorn

Should feel the Credit of his chaf'ning Horn;
 But, while aloft adult Dogs whirling fly,
 He'd foot their despicable Puppies by.

Oh blind to Fate! thou too presuming 'strong!
 The destin'd Match, amid the inner Throng,
 Like arrogant, will soon the Lifts demand,
 And meet thy Vaunting with Correction's Hand;
 With wringing Gripe Left-hand on Throat shall fall,

[maul.
 And th' heavier Right thy quacking Bosom
 Hence, hauking ropy Blood, lame, blind, and fore,

[deplore,
 Thy Morrow's Groans shall vapour'd Strength
 And

And in thy wallow'd Bed be Solace vain
That thy Foe, welt'ring, moans an equal Pain,
Or that Time fitter may clear Stage allow,
And HERCULES less neuter to thy Vow : —
For anxious Dread shall rather plague thy Soul,
Lest Bindings-over more thy Fists controul:

End of the Fourth Canto.

CANTO V.

CANTO V.

Whether the haughty Despot of the
(a) Air

In stormy Clouds still holds imperial Chair,
Or in infernal Den awaits his Doom,
Reserv'd in (b) Everlasting Chains of Gloom,
Above our Soaring mounts, or too profound
Lies for the Plummet of our Guess to sound.
To Clerks more vers'd in Lore abstruse we leave
Full Proofs on either Side—or both—to weave.

Too

(a) The Air.] According to EPHES. ii. 2. The Prince of the Power of the Air, the Spirit that now worketh in the Children of Disobedience. See also History of the Devil.

(b) Everlasting Chains, &c.] According to JUDE, ver. 6. The Angels which kept not their first Estate, but left their own Habitation, he hath reserved in Everlasting Chains under Darknefs, unto the Judgment of the great Day.— II. PETER ii. 4. Cast them down to Hell, and delivered into Chains of Darknefs, to be reserved unto Judgment.

Too well we know, though we too rarely mind,
His (c) Angels here too frank Reception find,
When whisp'ring fly Temptation to the Thought,
And twitching by the Passions to be naught.

(d) Not that, as in Old-time, now Midnight hears

Fiends roaring wake Folk to neglected Pray'rs.
No longer are their Feet spy'd cloven now,
Nor lampy Eyes more broad than Saucers glow.
No maudlin Bibbers, tho' they doubly view,
In (e) MARY-ARCHES-LANE, by Glance askew,
See Coffins op'ning, or White Shrouds to stalk,
Or Palls and Cloaks in black Procession walk.
No flashing Coaches over BELHILL rove,
As if SALMONEUS mimic Thunder drove;

Though

(c) Angels.) Read MAT. xxv. 41. REV. xii. 7, 9.
THES. iii. 5, &c.

(d) Note, The several terrible Things in this Part of the Poem detailed were really reported, nay and believed, to have been seen, felt, heard, and understood, in Eweter.

(e) This Lane is one of the most common Avenues to the common Burial-Yard, viz. ST. BARTHOLOMEW'S.

Though empty (f) Casks, by Rakes from Grocer's Door,

Down tumbled rumbling, haply startle more.
No Headless-Horse neighs strolling Wench to Bed,

[read.

Nor drives Boys, late out-staying, home — to
No Goblins sluggish Sabbath-breaker rouse
To hurry to the Church,— sure Safety's House.
A Burglar, loaden with new-plunder'd Pelf,
Espies no mortal Thing (g) worse than himself.
The Waits may now, in (b) blackest Month, go through

Ev'n the suspicious Close of BARTHO'MEW,

Nor

(f) At the Head of Bellhill lately lived a Grocer, who too often left empty Hogheads all Night at his Door, at but a narrow Passage.

(g) Worse, &c.] Those who, on hearing Tales of Walking Devils, &c. in Exeter, wou'd signify that they for their Parts never beheld any such, use to express themselves thus: — I thank God, I've gone all Hours of the Night, in many suspicious Places, and yet never saw any Thing worse than myself.

(b) Blackest Month.) They have or had a Notion that in the black Month (as they call it when the Days are at the shortest) the Devils are the most privileged to roam about,
and

Nor by that Calvary hear dismal Groan
 But dismal that from snuffling Courtal blown,
 Nor (i) Southgate's Porter now lets in a Miss At Night's dark Noon whom wou'd he fear to kifs.

Ev'n in Church-Porches — (Antient Gran-dams told) —

In Winter Nights lewd Mormo's,—horrid bold!
 By us Bullbeggars bight, were yelling heard,
 And dev'lish Rackets in the sacred Yard.

Then (k) Jack-in-Lantern fooling would mislead
 Through Bog and Brake the Sot's benighted Tread

O

Sprights

and play their devilish Tricks; whereby the serenading Waits, in their nightly Walks, us'd very particularly to be frighten'd, and to scamper off. Those are call'd suspicious Places where People had hang'd themselves, died suddenly,
 &c. Churches, and Church-yards, and empty Houses, use here to be call'd suspicious Places.

(i) I remember it was reported, and believed, that,
 during the Portership of Old Mr. NICHOLS at S. Gate, the Devil in Shape of a fine Gentlewoman us'd to give a single Knock, just after Twelve o' Clock at Night, and was let in constantly by him.

(k) Jack-in-Lantern, the same as Will-with-a-Wisp;
 the ignis fatuus.

Sprights were as frequent in void Houses then
 As were in lonely Lanes grim (1) Gagger-men,
 Then frightened Candles gave, by flaming blue,
 The sure Ostent some Ghost's Approach to rue;
 Down went the Cards, though Trumps, for Satan's Books,

And each beheld a Ghost—in t'other's Looks.
 Then in the Streets dead Scavengers wou'd
 drive

As nat'ral Wheelbarrows as when alive.
 In Meadows then, by Moonshine, frisky Elves
 In Circlets, handing, tripp'd to breathe themselves;

And where their petty Toes went featly round,
 More florid Pasture dignify'd the Ground:
 To Nurse a-dream then wou'd they stealing glide,

And softly draw her Bantlin from her Side,

And

(1) Gaggersmen.) So we used to call Plagiaries, Kidnappers, or Boy-stealers, from the Gags they are reported to clap in the Childrens Mouths whom they have spirited away.

And in its stead slip a young Fairy Brat,
 Thrice taller than themselves, more gross,
 and pat
 As like as if Twin-Brother born to that.

Then PUCK — (or GOODFELLOW) — from Room to Room

Hurl'd Comb, Cowl, Shoe, Trowfers, Beads, Ladle, Broom ;

And when wou'd fumbling Beldams Pitcher fill,
 Joggling their wither'd Arms the Ale he'd spill ;
 Nay, oft' o'erturn the Chamber's needful Vase,
 And with foul Deluge ill-perfume the Place ;
 Sometimes long Grass o'er Paths in Knots he'd tie,

[fly.
 And upwards make DOLL Milkmaid's Trotters

But now they're banish'd quite, nor big as Est
 One to be lash'd by (m) DEMOGORGON left.
 Not OBERON returns ; nor MAB his Queen
 By CYNTHIA's and by COLLIN's Eyes is seen.

O 2

We

(m) Demogorgon.) See DRYDEN's Fable of The Flower and the Leaf.

We not their Footsteps search: But when we view

The Grassy Ringlets shine of greener Hue, Conclude we Compost, for Manuring brought,
With richer Juice the bord'ring Verdure wrought.

[keep
The Fiends which once did frightful Routings
In Porches, now turn out-shut Dogs asleep.

Hence the old flaming Sprights prove Glow-worms now,

And Guttur Glympses Whitens Heads we know.

Hence Death-watches, which often flew the Sick,

Are now found Insects of a harmless Click.

Hence skitt'ring Rats are Rats, whose Squeaks not scare

With Fairy Talk the suckling Nurse's Ear.

To Manhood hence EXONIAN Mothers bring

Ten Politicans ere one (n) Chan-ge-ling.

Hence

(n) Changeling.) Many vulgar People here in the Pronunciation of the Word make it consist of Three Syllables, thus: Chan-ge-ling.

Hence (o) MAURUS native Wit retains; and
hence

Shrewd (p) MANLIUS preserves his Infant Sense.

Hence qualify'd is Boy-Trick B--GHAM found
To mate (q) His Honour, and discourse his Hound.

Hence H-CK-R, manly wise, though maidly fair,

Hath fav'd his own, with Senatorian Air,

To (r) second each great Motion of the May'r.]

If then, ev'n Fairies have resign'd their Balls,
Assemblies, Rings, Masks, Wakes, and Festivals,
Old ACHERON's mere Dotards, surely, wou'd
Bo-peeping, terrify us to be good.

What *Temper*s worthy of the Style wou'd gin

Our Hearts by Methods that deter from Sin!

No; the oft' bilk'd Enticers, grown more wise,

Now dress up lovely in chous'd Mortals Eyes,

And

(o) WILL. (p) JOHN. (q) Honour.] Sir H. N---hc-te.
(r) Second.] This finical and august Chamber-man, on the Mayor's proposing a Matter in Council, is prompt to be the first to back him, with his — Mr. Mayor! I second that Motion.

And lure with Calls enchanting as the Air
Of FARINELLI in a Theatre.

Hence, (though with Witch and Sorcerer by Act
Of Senate be cut off each form'd Compact)
They with unwitting Souls gain snug Abode }
And, to misguide us from the (s) Gospel Road, }
Attempt to personate Envoys of GOD. }

Some they in Punk's, or Punch-bowl's, Shape engage,

In Pelf's Form some, and some of Equipage.

Some with High Post and Title in they draw,
Some to make Equity unjust—by Law.

No few they urge in Aid of Truth to lie,
Some to take Peevishness for Piety.

They others tempt to make Election sure
By formal Mein, stiff Neck, and Cheeks demure.

[take,
Thick - crowding Shoals into their Nets they
By Acts immoral for Religion's fake,

Who

(s) Gospel.] The Etymon is God's Spell, or God's Word.

Who Charity's Defect o'er-pay with Creeds,
While warpleſs Faith atones for crooked Deeds.

Whole Caravans of wou'd-look Saints they win,
[bour's Sin;
Who ſpare their own, and laſh their Neigh-
Or ſtrive with Pray'r an evil Cauſe to prop,
And thank in Pew for fraudulent Gain in Shop.
Some Profligates they trick by ſingle Hoſte
To keep from going down, when yielding up the Ghoſt:

Some to ken Heav'n for Reprobates fly ope,
Stow'd ſafe in hallow'd Soil with certain Hope.
Some they inſnare Miſ duty to purſue
By chriſt'ning one, and chouſing t'other (t) JEW.
Some they teach ſpiteful Kindneſs, who abate
To leſs than Twopence on the Pauper-Rate,
For Amputation of the Votes of ſuch
As poll'd for FORTY-MEN amiſs too much.

In

(t) Jew.] OTTOLENGHE and GABRIEL TREVES.

In PORTUGAL, the Choler of the Priest
 They to imprison, rack, and burn, assist,
 And play the Devil in the Name of Christ.

But they invisible bear thus the Prize,
 Or masquerading in a specious Guise;
 Who would be shunn'd, were their Complexions foot,
 Nor hid their Tails, Claws, Horns, and Gloven [Foot,
 Or from their Throats blue-flaming Belches broke,
 And Nostrils snorted a sulphureous Smoke.

Yet, would we imp with pilfer'd Plumes
 our Wings,
 Like some, to soar sublime at flighty Things,
 We, by Imagination, might repair
 [Air,
 Old (u) PANDEMONIUM, or build new in th'
 And, summon'd, there, in hellish Pomp convene Wrath's fiery Demons, and those Fiends of Spleen,

Which

(u) Pandemonium. See MILTON. Like as PANTHEON means a full Assembly of the Gods, so Pandemonium signifies that of all the Devils.

Which factious SOLYMA in Siege so rued,
 Self-ruin'd, by intestine Strife subdued :
 Where (while in State sit Demons of Command,
 And thick around the Goblin Commons stand)
 Might His grim Majesty of Sin harangue,
 As in Miltonian Mode, his Vassal Gang.
 Then might a Posse of Hell's Rabble ply
 Their smutty Wings, and to EXONIA fly;
 And in the Blood of her ferocious Hosts,
 The Stygian Legions take their destin'd Posts.

But as the MUSE in beaten Tracts to shine }
 Disdains, she wou'd Machinery decline, }
 Proud to have sprung of no aspiring Line. }
 Nor needs she an exotic Rage ascribe
 To goad a born-and-bred-to Fury Tribe,
 Whom if to line such bellish Mobbers strove,
 They might themselves in Belial Acts improve.

Suffice it, then, to say, their Earthly Kin
 Chase as if did a Legion fume within :

P

Their

Their own ERYNNIS, to the MUSE confest,
 More fires the Brain, more stimulates the Breast.
 For we already have digress'd too long,
 And ought resume the interrupted Song.

MUSE! teach me Notes adapted to rehearse
 Strife rais'd to Tempest in congruent Verse!
 And safely such bold Hurricane to form,
 Curb THOU its Fury, and control the Storm;
 Yet whatsoever Pitch the Numbers fly,
 Let smiling HUMOUR still accompany.

Count it the Instant when NED's Face o'Fire
 To five Hours Cooling leaves the heated Quire,
 And, with a Back - Lane Cogue 'new-fuel'd,
 glows
 Through EASTGATE, redder then an Austr'an [Rose;
 Then, turn'd from LONDON-INN tow'ds LI-
 VERY-DOLE,

Makes PARIS-STREET to dread a flaming Coal,
 That

Five Hours, &c.] That is between Prayer and Prayer
 Time, from Eleven till Four.

That each poor Dweller, anxious, eyes his Thatch,

[hatch.
Left reaching Sparks (z) new Conflagrations

Mean-while Throat-Battle rages; Party Cant
Mingles its foul Antiphone of Rant :

The Babel Clamours, varying, around,

Thus plainly, with confus'd Distinction, found :

' Blue !--Yellow !-- Sound for HADDY!-- Sound for HEATH !

[to Death !

' H-a-b ! Sb--jack !—Sound for Yellow—Blue

' The Church for ever ! — Down with PERKIN'S Crew !

[for Blue !

No Courtiers ! — No Mock Patr'ots ! — Sound

And not a Mouth but what, expanded large,

Does thrice a Threescore Times its Load discharge ;

And Rogue ! and Dog ! and Rascal ! and You lie !

At ev'ry Turn assist the striving Cry.

P 2

Dreadful

(z) New Conflagrations] Great Part of Paris-street having some Years since been on fire on both Sides the Way, and the Houses being, nearly all, Thatched.

Dreadful Ado ! Ere clash'd encounter'd Swords
To match such combating Hodgepodge of Words ?

Were in Old Chaos the like Garboils found,
Or Jargon Brunts of so embattled Sound ?

Scarce more sonorous in their turbid Cave Heard MARO's MUSE contending Tempests rave.

Like waving Reeds, when Gusts in August vex,
Near lowmost Sluice, the oozy Fens of ExE,
The brabbling Multitude, amid their Cry,
Flag where o'erwhelm'd, and with the Tide comply.

If were an antick World of Franticks pent,
To dance the hay, in wild Vagary, bent,
Scarce could the restless Bedlams, winding, pace
Such tangled odd Vicissitude of Place :
Nor were they chang'd in Brain to Wolves,
they'd grin
To bark so harsh, so horrible, a Din.

'Tis

'Tis Blifs, they deem, diftracting tofs'd, to rowl;
And fouleft Pudder recreates their Soul.

So when rough ÆOLUS's bluft'ring Train
To foamy Mountains blow the Fluid Plain,
Tumult'ous (a) Fish-Hogs tumbling Tricks perform,
Aid the Waves Uproar, and enjoy the Storm.

Scarce ever Sheriff's Substitute cou'd fee
Such rampant Bick'rings shake our Heavy-Tree,
Where, with authoritative Pikes of Ash,
Bailiffs the Head-defending Cudgels thrash.
Ne'er did fuch petulant Confufion rage,
In Westgate-Quarter on (b) Whit-Monday's Stage;
Where bumping Thwacks and the Wail-rai-fing Drub
With vaunted Glory Blockhead-Heroes dub, Till

(a) The Porpoifes, or Porcu-pifces.

(b) Every Whit-Monday there is in this Place erected a Stage for Cudgel playing, &c. round about which, as well as on it, are ufually moft terrible Doings.

Till Pates, sad Turn of War! in dripping Flood,
 Asham'd, give forth the honourable Blood.

Scarce feels our Clime more of Perdition full

At a (c) Prætorian Beating of the Bull,

When Their sage Worships the Town-Pails allow

[throw.
 Colds, Fevers, Deaths, in chilling Streams, to

Elbows on Chests repay from Elbows Grief,
 And stamp'd-on Feet by trampling seek Relief.
 Eyes, by flapp'd Hat, with briny Rheum struck blind,

By like Infliction try a Cure to find.

Bums butting stickle; Hips, and dashing Knees,
 And rubbing Ankles, fore delighted, tease.

Perukes,

(c) Prætorian Bull-baiting.] About Three Weeks after the Election of a new Mayor, a Bull uses to be brought and baited before his Door: At which Time the most scandalous Abuses are practis'd with Impunity, yea Applause, by ruffian Butchers, &c. throwing Water, dipt up from the very Kennel, &c. on all Persons they can meet with, even in their own Houses. The Leathern City-Buckets, prepared for extinguishing Fires, are lent to them from the very Guildhall for the vile Purpose. Rare Doings at Bath! ----- [The throwing of Water has been for some Years disus'd. 1770.]

Perukes, now timely made the Pocket's Care,
Leave, apter to throw Knock, shav'd Sconces bare.

Nor stays expos'd (what Place of Wig suppl's)
The worsted Cap, distinct with curious Dyes,
Though (c) IRIS dipp'd the Woof not, clam-
my wet,

And shining with the Pate's hot Spring of Sweat.
From off the Neck's hawl'd Handkerchief, or Stock,

To save from Throttle by a coll'ring Shock.

The Shirt disbutton'd spreads its Bosom wide,
Or Sham,—worn clean — no cleanest Shirt to hide ;

[defend,
Yet Gripes, ev'n where broad Shoulder-stays
Shall hideous Chafms in stoutest Dowlaps rend.

Nor Vest of Drugget most robust shall scape,
Nor Coat of Iron Kersey, though with Cape }
Enormous fortify'd, a ghastly Width to gape. }

Woe

(c) Iris.) Alluding to MILTON's " Iris dipp'd the Woof. "

Woe were the Spot, where,--chewing Cuds of Spite, [Smite.
 Fell Champions, met, renew'd the Knuckle-
 There GIBBONS, bulky BOLT, tough TAN-NER, FRY,
 FOOT, HOOPER, ASHLEY, TWIGGS, might boxing die,
 And crystal ISCA reek,— a ruby Flood!
 And more than the (d) ADONIS run with Blood,
 If sworn Authority, alert at hand,
 Staff interpose not, and the Peace command!
 Yet, maugre all --- piqued Braves in fluster'd
 State,
 Prick'd jealous on by Lust of Fame, or Hate,
 And, prompted each by his fomenting Clan,
 Strain brutal Force to prove the Better Man.

For

(d) Adonis.] A remarkable River, near Byblos in Phœnia, at certain Seasons, and on some Occasions, appears as if bloody, suppos'd (says MILTON) with the Blood of THAMMUZ, yearly wounded. But the said Phœnomenon was long ago declared to be occasion'd by a kind of Minium or Red Earth, which the River brought away, when swell'd to unusual Heights.

For DAREMAN--(of more overweening Pride
Than (e) GATH's Huge Knight, who ISRA'L's
Host defy'd;

Than whose none of the pictur'd CÆSARS e'er
Such Jolt-Head did, or Eyes more staring, bear;
Firm-set, and not of Stature high; full grim
His rough-hewn Aspect; of stupendous Limb,
And Flesh all callous)-- DAREMAN thus aloud
Provokes to Single-Loggerhead the Crowd:

‘ Produce a Man, ye Scolders of the Blue,
‘ If Men wou'd harbour with your bestial Crew,
‘ With Me in Manhood Skill and Force to try, ‘ While stand both Armies join'd Spectators by!
‘ And learn ye all from the Event how far
‘ Ye may hereafter venture solid War: [Boys,
‘ Bold though ye dare, by Females help'd and
‘ To form Attack with Blusterings and Noise:
‘ His Groans repentant shall soon cause to know,
‘ 'Tis ours to vanquish with effective Blow.’

Q

He

(e) Gath's Knight.] GOLIAH of Gath, a Giant.

He said, clench'd hard his maffy Fift, and struck
Ten mighty Wherrets with one fighting Look.

Promisc'ous Clamours differently rise,
Some to explode, some to cares and praise :
But "Sound for HADDY !" and scarce check'd Huzzahs !

So loud prevail from the proud Yellows Jaws,
That louting Blues, abash'd, a while keep in Their (f) Stink-Word, and scarce dare a Hab!
to grin.

But so not long : For murmur'd Talk around
The irritating Challenger resound :

" Thus has the braving Bully done, thus spoke :

" What ! no Man dare rebuke him with a Stroke ?

" No Match within ?—Fly, fly, and bruit afar

" Th' Affront among the doughtier Chiefs of War."

But FAME, industr'ous with her Trump, before
More fleetly the diffusive Tidings bore,

And

(f) Viz. Sh-tack.

And (g) ATE, in LONG-PHILL's dissembled Form,

In CARNAGE blew of burning Ire a Storm :

“ Haste, Thou Dependance of our grateful
Host,

“ And teach the saucy Yellows how to boast :

“ But DAREMAN, if unactive here thou stay,

“ From thee conveys the useful Dread away.

“ Break thund'ring in.—See ! where the Braggard stands,

“ And proudly brandishes provoking Hands,

“ With Purpose thee of Glory to beguile,

“ And brand thee with a Coward Lubber's “ Style.”

(b) SHE spoke, and clapp'd his Loins. Her coaxing Breath

Inspires a Vow,—Within an Inch of Death

Q 2

To

(g) ATE]. The Devil of a Goddess, viz. of Rage, Discord, Revenge, Havock, &c. — [Now in 1770. I have really forgot the Bullies Names which Long-Phill and Carnage stood for.]

(b) She.] That is, ATE in the Disguise of LONG PHILL.

To sacrifice to Great Revenge, on Foes,
 Whole Hecatombs of Bosom-basting Blows.
 At once a sudden Clap of dreadful Roar
 Bursts expeditious through the Archy Door;
 For, compass'd with a Rout of Boutefeus,
 A Rout of ruggedest deep-voiced Blues,
 And stripping as he comes, the bulky Wight
 Tow'rs, ostentatious of his Shoulders Height,
 The wish'd Occasion seizing. Flam'd his Eyes
 At once fight, conquer, triumph, tyrannise.
 SAMPSON is sung (i) less confident in Wrath
 Address'd to pommel HARAPHA of GATH.

As when Two warring Ships crowd sail to wage

A marine Duel, with proportion'd Rage,
 Broadsides exchang'd their furly Greetings throw,
 Ere grappled they their boarding Prowess show,
 So these, reciprocal, their Volleys dire
 Of Malediction, ere the Closure, fire,

And

(i) Is sung, viz. In MILTON's Sampson Agonistes.

And with a belch'd-out missile Fury warm
Defiance to defy, and Arm meet Arm.

Where, where's the Scoundrel? eager CARNAGE cries.

[replies.

"Here, Rascal, here, mov'd DAREMAN bold
I'll rascal Thee, thou Dog! rejoin'd the first,

"Villain, come on," the last adds, and be curst.

Choler no farther Parle allows; and Space
For Action made would longer Parle disgrace.
But, shooting prone both with collected Might,
Their obvious Bulks commence substantial Fight:
Each Lefthand's Clutches tugging grasp a Foe,
And Righthands clos'd redouble Blow for Blow.

So when grim MULCIBER, for JOVE his Sire,
Laborious forg'd the forky Bolts of Fire,
Tenacious one the wizzing Steel did guide,
The stronger Arm the pond'rous Hammer ply'd.

The clubby Fists on Teeth & Trunk resound,
And seem the Brawn with mortal Thumps to pound.

Chests

Chests bruise jarr, the Ribs as shatter'd crash,
 And bleeding Jawbones clatter, every Dash.
 Each like (k) EPEUS aims destructive Pains,
 And firm as an EURYOLUS sustains.
 Both as (l) ENTELLUS Bang with Bang requite,
 And hard as DARES bear the falling Weight.
 Head against Head their stunning Efforts knock,
 Like Rams at Duel for the Female Flock ;
 Nor Arm will more Neck at Advantage spare
 Than would a HOCKLEY's Mastiff-hugging Bear.
 But Legs in-lock'd Antagonist to throw
 Oblige that hard Advantage to forego.
 The Head retriev'd, lost Moments to redeem
 Of sham'd Inaction, wash'd by Nose a-stream,
 Leaps up elastic, and Reprisal draws
 Of scurvy Blood leak'd from the loosen'd Jaws.

Surrounding

(k) EPEUS and EURYOLUS.] Names of Two stout Combatants at the Funeral Games for PATROCLUS in HOMER's Iliad. 23.

(l) ENTELLUS and DARES.] The Two Champions at the Games in honorary Memory of ANCHISES in VIRG. Æneid. 5.

Surrounding Routs exclaim more Space to clear,
And wheel, a living Amphitheatre,
Whilst some behind the circling Tumult spring
By Fits to overlook the buffling Ring.
By Wagers some their Wishes would support ;
Some gnarr to fright, and Courage some exhort ;
And partial Sidings to molest or aid,
Which multiply the Combat, are assay'd.

Soon spurting Nostrils wou'd dye red the Floor
With Inundations, mixt, of factious Gore,
If still remiss of swagg'ring Duty lay
The Sons of (m) THEMIS of subaltern Sway ;
Or niggard prov'd of Breath and swelter'd
Grease,
In troublous Domineering for the Peace.
But soon their Highnesses, whose huffie List
Can, arbitrary, bid the World assist,

Allarm'd

(m) THEMIS]. The Goddess of Justice. These her Underling Sons mean the Constables.

Alarm'd at such bold Neighbourhood of War,
 With stretching Necks up start within the Bar;
 When thus (n) CYANUS, by officious Words
 To fire his Troop to Action, Speech affords:—

“ Compeers in Post! — Do thus our Palms “ retain

“ These dread Insignia of our high Domain,
 “ Staffs of Controul, which legally fetch down
 “ All who not own in Proxy US the Crown?
 “ And in the Presence, in Our very Court,
 “ Shall Sb--sacks of Infurgency make sport?
 “ I say,— Before Us, US, whose awful Word
 “ MARS ought obey, and drop his lifted Sword, “ (MARS, in the Garb of sconcing Grenadier, “ Who'd (o) Tall rank'd with Tall PRUSSIA Guards appear)

“ His

(n) GEORGE COMINGS. See before, page . The Cyanus properly is the Flower call'd the blue Corn-bottle, and which our Country People name Pretty-Johns.

(o) The King of Prussia's Delight in very tall Men for his Body Guard is not unknown.—[The late King, Father of the present, is meant. 1770.]

- “ His Sword, though for a captiv’d Trull
 ’ydrawn,
 “ Or to retake Habiliments from Pawn;
 “ Shall Slaves of Orange Badge, so het’rodox!
 “ With ours thus interchange pugnacious Knocks;
 “ Nor WE, on whom dares rise no batt’ring
 Joint,
 “ Or ev’n a Finger rear assaulting Point,
 “ Fall in, chastizing, and Big-ton’d declare,
 “ With Magisterial Visage, WHO WE ARE?
 “ Go to, then; let our brandish’d Arms maintain
 “ US not select to bear those Arms in vain.”

He said. His Mates of Dignity unite
 To spring upon the tussling Crowd in Fight,
 Together huddling, some from off the Bench,
 Each with imperious Standard in his Clench,
 And back by their arrested Collars hawl
 The Outer Orbits, as for bailefs Thrall;

R

And

And with fierce Features, in a Thunder's Tone, Cry, " Keep the Peace ! WE represent the Throne.

Their dreadful Charge the inmost Circles hear,
Resign the Battle, and to Passage clear :
For J^OVE lends oft' to LAW terrific Grace,
And shakes his ÆGIS in a Rebel Face.

The Duelists (though Pride disowns Enough, Howe'er bray'd Jelly, of the martial Cuff)
Permit to break their pertinacious Fangs,
And suffer Shelter 'mid their friendly Gangs.

So (p) when the TROJANS, forward in the Strife
[Life,
For claim'd PATROCLUS, spoil'd of Arms and
Heard, from the Rampart by PELIDES trod,
Tremendous as of some destroying God,
His ireful Call, the Valiant felt Dismay,
And even PRIAM's bravest Sons gave way.

Our

(p) When the Trojans.) See HOM. II. lib. 18.

Our fever'd Heroes, smear'd with Muck and Gore,
 Baulk'd Anger solace with Revenge in Store ;
 And, lugg'd indignant each a diverse Way,— Drink,—hawk,—drink,—swear,—drink,—brag a future Fray ;
 From the swoln Face half wipe the bloody Dirt,
 And Breeches repossess with Tails of Shirt.

Disasters sad one guilty Wretch betide,
 Who dar'd, un-franchis'd, join the Yellow Side,
 And, that he might the basting Fists eschew
 Of an 'oer-matching and revengeful Blue,
 Had from the ope Piazza of the Hall
 Slunk in, where to repeat illegal Bawl:
 For, there detected soon, he's clasp'd by Throat,
 And charg'd with lawless bold Intent to vote ;
 And, with his Shirt, Skin, Hair, & Jerkin ragg'd,
 Is to (q) the temporary Bastille dragg'd.

R 2

Somewhat

(q) Temporary Bastille.) What is call'd the Back Gate, to which the Constables arbitrarily, of their own Authority, commit, by Night, or for a while.

Somewhat the like ;—(be (r) DOLESH Strand the Place)—

When glutton Porpoise scares the Pilchard Race;
The watchful Fishermen their Meshes spread,
And strike the Shore with unexpected Dread,
Hauling the Scaly Refugees to Land,
With Flutter vain to beat th' intrhalling Sand.

Slim'd o'er with Sweat now Clusters justling squeeze

To gasp Refreshment in unprison'd Breeze;
Though as some issue forth, some still arrive,
Like Bees at Labour to and from the Hive.
Some to the (s) Tuns, and some to Inn resort
Where hangs the whisker'd (t) Soldan of the PORT :

Some

(r) Dolesh.) A little Fishing Town, 2 Miles from Teignmouth, 10 from Exeter, famous for fine Pilchards taken there.

(s) Tuns.) The Three Tuns Inn, adjoining the Guildhall.

(t) Soldan.) The Turk's Head Inn, on t'other Side the Hall.

Some where, in flaming Spice, with golden
Wings,

The (u) Lonely Bird of sweet ARABIA fwings;
Thence to repair the Lassitude of Lung,
Throat clarify, and glibber oil the Tongue.

When vengeful GREEKS, as HOMER's Strains
attest, [invest,
Did stiff-will'd PHRYGIANS and old TROY
Made Deities — (poetic Flesh and Blood) —
Each Side assisting, to the Combat stood.

(x) So now, disguis'd in liquid Shape, they (some)
To the invoking Bands auxiliar come.

(y) CERES, -- most potent in her bearded Grains, --
With (z) TETHYS join'd, whom (a) VULCAN's Aid sustains,

CERES,

(u) Lonely Bird.) The Phœnix Inn. This fabulous Bird, as pictured in the Sign at the Door, is display'd in Gold, burning in Spices, &c.

(x, y, z, a, b, c.) So now, disguis'd, &c.) Here is ven-tur'd an Allegory, by which under the Persons or Names of Ceres, Tethys, and Vulcan, is signify'd Ale; the first put for Barley or Malt, the second for Water, and the last for Fire;
the Two latter being absolutely necessary for making Barley into

* CERES, the Solace and Support of Life,
 Invigorates with stronger Voice the Strife ;
 DEVON's (b) POMONA helps the Verbal Broil,
 Or cooper'd (c) BACCHUS haps to reinforce the Coil.

Now Entries flow hot with a Urine Sea ;
 And rattling Walls think Water-Engins play,
 From whose stain'd Corners divers froathy Rills
 Shape Course in reeking Conflux o'er the Hills ;
 In such quick Torrents the rank Streams combine, [Brine.
 That EXE grows warm and brackish with the
 And if well-station'd Millmen frugal were,
 They their embarrel'd Stock of Seg might spare.
 Eels haply think the Tide does downward
 drive,
 And season'd Trouts fear pickling while alive ;
 Seiz'd

into Malt, as well as for brewing afterwards. So Pomona is put for Cyder, and Bacchus for Wine.

(*) Ceres.] The Goddess of Corn and Tillage. She is by a Metonymy us'd frequently in Poetry for Wheat, Barley, Bread, &c.

Seiz'd with Vertigo may the fuddled Dace
Be seen to ramble on the River's Face;
Not with intoxicating Berries dos'd,
But stronger Fumes swift from the P--sing-Post.

Libation made to DISCORD, and renew'd }
Spent Vigour, - they again, at Hall, intrude }
With rallied Hubbub, and restore the Feud. }

As fiery Bulldogs, when their Shamble-Lords
Slip from their urgent Necks restraining Cords,
Whose well-prov'd Holders drip a foamy Gore,
Spring furious at the Bull, tho' tam'd before,---
So fiercely eager the chear'd Party bound,

Ope-mouth'd, more instant for the Conq'ring
Sound. [moisten'd Foe:

Just Dread strikes Silence through th' Un-
The roaring Half-drunk with new Valour glow.
Dishearted those shrink to the Left and Right;
These, glory'ng, in the Centre brave the Fight.

Yet Courage soon reanimates the Fray,
For timely Aid huzzahs not far away,

Then

Then breaks all-hideous on the vauntful Crew,
And for the Conquest warms the vanquish'd few.
Less Rage the MYRMIDONS, on ILION'S Plain,
To save the Navy, and avenge the Slain,
Urg'd—than impels the Succours to the Brawl:
Nor flinch the Hardy of the adverse Squawl.
Not with superior Fury is pursued
A Dog in Passage near a feather'd Brood,
When with up-bristled Plumes, and Quills a-
spread,
The scolding Hen, ope-bill'd, asserts the Shed,
Than what transports th' Assailants to the Charge :
Nor, grinning furly, with Jaws open large,
The Growler on the plumed Heroine turns
Like Ire as which each grim Defendant burns.
Dire the reviv'd Contest : The equal Routs
Pelmell aim Havock with contending Shouts.
Shoves repel Shoves, Breast - Bulkings meet Rebuff ;
But woe the Shins not tann'd to Kicking-proof!

Yet

Yet what terrene shall firm exist for ay?
 Lungs tho' of Brass were subject to Decay:
 Snorts of gigantic Nostrils must, at length,
 Own, in short Pantings, a Decline of Strength.
 Too long, too high, the human Organs sprain'd Crack, — as in th' Adage Bow too much con-strain'd.

But though, at length, maim'd Voices barely
 croak, [provoke,
 And ev'n craz'd Murmurs strangling Coughs
 Yet fault'ring Grumbles mutter harsh the Cry,
 And widen'd Mouths mutely a Roar imply:
 Resolv'd, in last Resort, to win Regard,
 Like Cocks, and Villains hang'd, by dying hard.

So, at old CHEVY,— (an old Bardling tells;
Though smil'd at by our modern Infidels)—
 When lopping Sword, by nether Chop, has won
 The Pedestals of strenuous WITHRINGTON,
 Though Loss of Blood his lower Stroke im-
 pairs, [rears,
 On Stumps,—the best he may,—he Faulchion }
 And, to last Gasp, descending Backsword } dares. }

End of the Fifth Canto.

S

CANTO VI.

CANTO VI.

THE Vocal Ammunition spent, within,
 A while, furbated, flinch'd the Rage of Din ;

And but thin Parties, mazy, here and there,
Without, light skirmishing with Habs ! pickeer :
 Tho' Quill's deny'd, yet bought Refection drains Parch'd Legions, panting, from the hot Campaigns ;

And though mixt Numbers stand oppos'd their Ground, [wound ;
 Battle, struck hoarse, strives but with Lours to
 Or, solitary, a rare random Cry,
 Feebly assay'd, pops disregarded by.

But renovated Coil not long allows
 A mute Engagement of but hostile Brows ;
 For Hostels divers, near adjacent, yield Late Invalids, recover'd, to the Field ;
 With

With Effence arm'd of quick-restoring Mault,
More stimulated to re-join Assault,
And,--like fell Hounds from 'Fault reclaim'd,-- more strong
To open, as they rudely push along.

Now, rallying the scatter'd Routs of Blue,
Full by the Sconse superior to the View,
Ample his hairy Chest, VENTOSO stands,
A stern Coloss, and waves his horny Hands,
Demanding momentary Pause; and,—large
Expanding Jaws,—resuscitates the Charge:
Ardor full-scarlet kindles in his Face,
Which, like a Comet, shoots a threat'ning Blaze;
And thus, with well - ale'd Voice, prepar'd to twang
Rash Defamation, — belches hoarse Harangue:

“ How! Yield the Day? Oh Shame! oh new Disgrace!

[Race?

“ WE, -- WE -- the Day, -- and to the Canter

“ Who aim schismatically to trapan

“ Our Catechise with their Chief-End-o-Man:

“ A squeamish Crew, who’ll tremble if We swear;

“ But—in Damn’d-Lying take a tenfold Share;

“ The Calf’s-Head-feasted Villains, who deride

“ Our Curse as causeless on the Martyr’s Tide:

“ Who wou’d again our Church to Stable turn,

“ And just-made Surplices to Tinder burn,

“ As but old Smocks of BABYLON’s old Whore;

“ Beat down the Test, and climb again to [Pow’r;

“ Who at our nodding Crests of Oak-boughs sneer,

“ And white Rose from our very Bosoms tear;

“ What! shall We, dastardiz’d to Silence, seem

“ To give the Victory of Voice to them?

“ Again that malapert Sleeve-laughing Crew

“ In Mourning hang our (a) MAUD’LEN daub’d with Blue?

“ Which,

(a) Maudlen, &c.) Maudlen, or properly Magdalen, Gallows, the Execution Tree for High Treason, Felonies, &c. committed within the County or City of Exeter. Divers super-eminent Personages of the Blue Army (among whom a Blindman was one) having had the Whim to paint their
 their

“ Which,--blast their Peepers!--might urge to destroy

“ In Flames of black November's Fifth their Joy;

“ And from sack'd Conventicles, — but — for Law! —

[(b) BAXTER draw!

“ Pews, Canting - Tubs, and Books of

“ I say, my Bloods! shall of th' Old Rump the Seed

[recede?

“ Think we will ere from Custom's Right

“ No: Sooner let the guilty (c) Sun be gay

“ Upon the Royal Martyr's sacred Day!

“ No, my brave Bullies, with rough Shocks of Breath

“ First tempest their fanatic Souls to death:

“ Your

their Houses, significantly, of that Colour, to shew their Extravagance of Zeal;—it happened that, on their losing an Election, some concealed Wags of the contrary Party daub'd this Gallows partly of that Colour, and withal hung ragged black Crape upon it, for Mourning.

(b) Baxter's Books.) James's Meeting-House is, or I well know was, furnished with BAXTER's Works, in several Volumes, Folio.

(c) Sun be gay.) I have heard it confidently averr'd in EXETER, that the Sun never shines clear on the 30th of January. But they err'd egregiously, especially while the Old Style continued among us.

“ Your Bellows of distended Lungs prepare
 “ To blast the Pimps with ruthfullest Despair :
 “ Enforce your Sinews ; close in firm Array ;
 “ And plunge, o’er-turning, in the Depth of Fray.”

He spoke ; and, ending, thrice with wilful Fift
 Beat up new-levy’d Anger to assist.
 Th’ Imperial Beast with Tail’s Rib-lashing Strokes
 His Choler thus to boiling Height provokes.

The Azure Forces huddling close around,
 Feel the Oration’s Charm, and club a Sound ;
 A Sound ? —Not (d) MARS so loudly roaring stood,
 When DIOMED had drawn his rabid Blood :
 In Volleys rais’d, loud, louder, and more loud,
 Tempest’ous Onsets vex th’invaded Crowd.
 The Orbs of Sight with flashing Outrage burn,
 While Bustlings work Confusion’s dire Return.

But --

(d) Mars, &c.) See HOM. II. lib. v.

But-- storms the Onset unrepell'd? Oh! can Stand passive the insulted Yellow Clan? —
 As soon could frisky Dancing-Masters be
 Of solid Head, and fit from Fudging free.
 As soon could Smiths their Trough's black
 Puddle swing,
 And Tuckers fuddle on their slimy Sig.
 As soon Shoemakers, in a Shilling rich,
 Could in a Garret on a Monday stitch.
 As soon could (e) CLACK, who all Things knows and more,
 Whose Lip with Arts and Eloquence runs o'er,
 His Tongue's perpetual Motion stop, and hear
 His Mug-Mates take of Talk some little Share.
 No:—Wroth BENANAK, bulky, tall, in Word
 And Act robust, with dauntless Stingo spurr'd,
 A forward Chief, of envy'd Fame among
 The high-fam'd Mighty of the Saffron'd Throng,
 Mouths thus,—by Stretch of eager Tone to fire
 His touchy Cohorts with intenser Ire:—

“ League

(e) CLACK.) There's a numerous Race of those Clacks.
 I instance them in the general Family.

“ League of the Orange hear ! Brave Yellow-Boys, [enjoys,

" Whose Hue the Sov'reign Mettal GOLD

“ And Guineas boast the (f) Name : Shall bestial Force

“ Of (g) Hogfity Savages uncheck'd ha' Courfe; “ Who’re rather like foul Swine themselves so much,

[touch !

" Scarce naft'est JEW (b) the filthy Herd would “ Shall Mifer’ants, bred in Greafe, Blood, Draff, and Dung,

[Tongue ?

" Like Vixen Scolds brave Men to Tilt of “ Shall

(f) Name.) Viz. of Yellow-Boys.

(g) Hogsty Savages, &c.] The Hog-serving Slaves of the Shambles.  N. B. 'A Hog was heretofore hieroglyphically pictured to express an Enemy to Good-Manners, and a prophane Person. For the Eastern Nations did so hate a Hog for his filthy Disposition, that it was a Crime for some of their Priests to touch it.' We make our BEN-ANAK (or Son of ANAK) exclaim principally against those Enemies to Good-Manners, seeing many of them are ---[i. e. about the Time of writing were]--- the Ringleaders, Strength, and Pride of the Party.

(b) Filthy Herd.) Our Journey-men Butchers are ---[i. e. they at the Date of the Poem were]--- probably, in the general, the most beastly filthy Fellows, of the Profession, in the Universe. Scavengers and Ridders of Bog-Pits appear not so nauseous. [How they are now, 1770. I know not.]

" Shall such as from wild BOGLAND's (i) Rapparees

“ Denomination take,—as best agrees,—

“ Whose ugly Hawing to our Teeth denotes

“ Their Prologue to th’ old Play of Cutting Throats;

[of ROME,

" Shall such mere Mongrels, the Half-spawn “ Against Whole Protestants resistless come ?

" Shall Caitiffs whoop, as 'twere for Rebel War,

“ Like Varlet Clans led on by Traytor MAR ?

“ No, Liegemen, no :—The Perkinites shall know [more flow.

[more flow.

" Our Strength keeps firmer, as it moves

“ Old Prophecies, I’ve heard, in Terms declare,

[Hair.

" The TURK shall fall by Men of (k) Yellow

“ And shan’t our christian Yellow Knots subdue

"The more than heathenish Cockades of Blue?"

T

"They

(i) Rapparees.) A Tory or a Rapparee originally means the same Person.

(k) Yellow Hair.) See BAYLE's Dict. Art. MAHOMET, Note [99].

" They shall : I see how they inglorious droop

“ Ev’n on the Cockscombs of their (l) Liv’ry
Troop;

“ They shall :—I see already how they hang

“ Lithe on the Numskulls of the beggar’d Gang,

“ As if from that Old tawdry (m) Vesture torn

“ By Madam BLOWZA's foggy Buttocks worn,

" Which, thriftelefs, ſhe converted late to Shreds

“ (Our Ridicule!) to deck their stupid Heads.

“ And though in later Clocks some Grander Wights

[Sights,

"Appear (n) Town-Whiffles to our distant

"Them

(1) Livery-Troop.) The Attendants on the Honourable High-Sheriff at the Assizes 1737 or 1738, wore Blue Cockades, in profess'd Token of that Gentleman's being of the Blue Party. [Many have followed the Example since, 1770.]

(m) Vesture torn, &c. On a certain former Election, a particular very fat Madam (whose Husband broke soon after, paying about 000 Nichils in the Pound) tore up her Blue Silk Gown to make Cockades therewith, all the blue or purple Ribbon in these Parts being already used, and insufficient.

(n) The City Waits, See before, Canto 3. Note, several Dons of the Party have ---[i. e. Had then]--- lately, by Agreement and in Concert, made themselves blue Cloaks: And three or four of them appearing in a Knot together have been at a Distance verily mistaken for the Waits.

“ Them future Days with Black so stain’d shall see “ They’d, mournful, serve in Death’s dark Pageantry.

“ Strut they distinct the while ;---till, sham’d,
they view

“ Not Blindmens Huts alone affect their Hue,

“ But (o) Coblers petty Shops, in mimic Pride,

“ That mocks unwittingly, like vainly dy’d.

“ But let not Talk from Action you withhold:

“ Prove right Your Selves, or than Yourselfes more bold :

[Shout,

“ Engross the Winds, and, with an Army’s

“ Blow hush the Vap’rings of the lawless Rout ;

“ A Shout so mortifying, it may quell

“ Their Hope, fond Wish, and Longing to rebel.

“ Strain hard your Frame, and with Elboic Thrust,

“ Bear down the saucy Headlongs to the Dust.

T 2

“ Though

(o) Cobler’s, &c.) A Cobler’s Shop situate near St. Olave’s Church. The Warden of that Parish, in his over-boiling Love to the Blue Party, painted the same of a very deep Blue, Windows, Stall, and all,

“ Though—(as the Actor in the loyal Play
 “ Call’d CATO, in our Play-House, us’d to say) “ Though Mortals may not full Success insure,
 “ Let us deserve it, and do nobly more.”

He ends. (p) CAMILLUS, for Triumphal
 Grace,

Like the Gods Statues with vermilion’d Face,
 Did scarce in Cheeks such bloody Lustre show,
 As that wherewith his fiery Features glow.

He ends. The hardy Bands of (q) Buff attest
 Their Potence with prevailing Voice the best,
 Whose ev’ry Throat with (r) JUNO’s seems to vie
 In STENTOR’s Form, as push’d her ARGIVES fly;

Or

(p) Camillus.] CAMILLUS, the Roman Dictator, in his Triumph for taking the VEH, enter’d ROME in a Chariot drawn by Four milk-white Horses, with his Face colour’d with Vermilion. But such Horses since the Expulsion of the TARQUINS had not been allow’d but to JUPITER and APOLLO: And the Statues of the Gods were wonted to be painted with Vermilion.

(q) Buff.] That formerly was the Term of Distinction assumed by the then low Party, Sound and Buff being the different Shiboleths then, as Blue and Yellow now are.

(r) Juno, &c.) Vid. HOM. II. lib. 5,

Or (s) THUNDERSON's, reviv'd TERTULLUS,
when

His Rattle seeks to lead our Leading Men.
More eager than the Sting of burning Thirst,
And rapid as ere July Thunders burst,
Right gallant as list BRITAIN's nettled Sons
To swinge th' insulting, proud, predacious DONS,
They penetrate th' inimic Press, and ply
Leaps, Reels, Stamps, Pushes, to support the Day.

The Hall again takes through rubb'd Gateway in
Stir, Freak, Rant, Hurlyburly, stunning Din,
That, as with colic Throes convuls'd, the Hall
Groans hideous, twing'd with the intestine
Bawl.

Scarce rack'd VESUVIUS quakes endanger'd so,
When heard internal Storms of Fire to blow.

In

(s) Thunderfon.] If there be no noisy, mobbish, hot Son of Thunder, &c. who thus by the Nose seeks to lead our Leaders, let him be suppos'd only a Son of mere Poetic Fancy.

In gen'ral Tumult fumes the Conflict :--Wide,
 Yet firmly dense, the Swarms of either Side
 With fierce Variety of Combat strive
 Through either Host Discomfiture to drive.

A Thousand Feats, well worth an EX'TER's Praise,

[Lays :

And thrice three Thousand Clamours claim our
 But each Exploit would, but half told, prolong
 In Folio Tomes,—defective yet,—the Song.

Wrath thro' the Whole ~~In~~ Conflagration spreads,
 And agonising Spite Infection sheds ;

As mortal Bites of Dogs insane instil

Like Fury, and a catching Lust to kill.

Each Individual chafes in Look to grow

A Phalanx fit to stem th' unnumber'd Foe ;

As in each Arm, or Mouth, Decision lay

Of Struggle sole to terminate the Fray ;

Or each impuls'd with more than Roman Zeal

Durst die (t) devoted for his Party's Weal,

And

(t) Dovoted.] The old ROMANS entertain'd an enthusiastic

And, bold as CURTIUS in his brave Career, Leap'd in the Gulph, could plunge in Seas—
—— of Beer.

But doubtful still to which the Day will fall:
No (u) Ballance Jove suspends to weigh the Bawl.

Nor Thee, ASTRÆA! with thy Scales of Gold,
Eyes, dim or jaundic'd, in the Hall behold.

Thy Bench in Heav'n by Faith they view, and deem [Beam.

The Scale of HADDY's Foes shall (x) kick the

But

astic Notion that in Cases of extreme Danger from their Enemies in Battle, &c. &c. if a worthy Person among them solemnly devoted himself to Perdition, and rush'd on certain Death amid the Enemy, he thereby wrought Salvation for his Countrymen, &c. Many madly thus destroy'd themselves --- The Earth opening once in the Forum, the Augurs declar'd it could never be fill'd up till the Thing in which consisted the Strength of the State was cast into it, whereupon M. CURTIUS, asking whether it consisted in any Thing more than Arms and Courage, arm'd himself Cap-a-pee, and mounting a stately Horse, devoted himself accordingly, and rode directly into the Gulph.

(u) Ballance.] Vid. HOM. II. lib. xxii. & VIRG. ÆN.
lib. xii.

(x) Kick the Beam.] See MILT. Par. lost, Book iv. ver.
100.

But what of that? Too oft' we fighting know
Thy Scales Above affect not Scales Below.

¶ HOMER and MARO, with their Gods of Old,

To serve the Purposes of Verse, were bold;
And THEM brought down, in Vehicles of Air,
With Mortals in ungodly Strife to share.

Good MILTON, haply, made a spice too free
Both with the DEVIL and — THE DEITY.
Monastic Bards th' old Pagan Gods forsake;
But (y) GODS as 'twere of fainted Deadmen make.

These Volunteers ere beats a Drum engage }
'Gainst Infidels a Crusade War to wage, }
And fight Heav'n's Battle with infernal Rage. }
To Purpose more approv'd might haply We (If bent to tamper with Machinery)

Convene

(y) Gods as 'twere.] To ascribe the Attributes of GOD to a Creature seems really to deify that Creature. Such as in any Place, and perhaps in a great many Places, pray to a Man, though call'd a Saint, must imagine him differently present, and to hear Invokers in many, perhaps all, Places.

Convene a Chapter of those Saints who bear
O'er Trades and Traders tutelary Care,
Who, kenning thus our Garboils rage so large,
Such Havock fast'ning on their divers Charge,
Might in the Clouds assemble, and their Heads
(Surrounding which a Blaze of Glory spreads)
In Council join how War awhile might cease,
And made be Ten Months Interval of Peace.

(z) St. BLAISE, who — (if Monks neither fib nor doat) —

Invok'd, whip! presto! heals a (z) squinzy'd
Throat,

Though with his Flesh in bleeding Tatters rent,

Might come th' endanger'd Combers President.

V

To

(z) St. Blaise, &c.] The Legend assures, that Persons, having a fore Throat, who pray to St BLAISE for Help, are strangely cur'd.---Wool-combers look upon him as the Author and Inventor of their Art and Trade, and represent and picture him as their Patron, with a Wool-comb in his Hand. The Supposal might possibly be founded on his having (as 'tis pretended) his Flesh torn by such-like Instrument as a Comb.

2

To save her Coopers from a mortal Quarrel
 Might interpose St. MARY of the (b) BARREL.
 To just St. JOSEPH ought our MUSE refer
 The tugging Joiner and the Carpenter.
Bricklayers should St. GREGORY obtain ;
 The Grace of St. ELOI shou'd Goldsmiths gain.
 St. ANN should Grooms assist, though none invoke ;
 Ev'n Butchers claim St. MARY OF THE OAK ;
 St. JAMES to Hatters might his Goodness grant.
Upholsters, sav'd from Fall, might praise VENANT.
 St. LE'NARD shou'd no Stone-cutter forsake,
 Nor MARY OF LORETTO those who Bake.
 For Taylors the beheaded Saint had stood
 Who duck'd Repentants in Old JORDAN'S Flood.
 St. CRISPIN might his Gentlecraft relieve :
 St. EUSTACE Aid to Innholders shou'd give :
 The Flea'd Apostle with his Knife might fide }
 The broil'd St. LAURENCE Safety to provide }
 For Curriers and tough Tanners of the Hide ; }

The

(a) Barrel.] Sta. Maria de Copella : Copella signifying in English A Barrel.

The last-nam'd Saint might in like Wardship hug
 Those who apply or vend th' aperient Drug :
 Nor leave of Aid the Woollen-drapers bare,
 Nor who at Wholesale deal in Staple Ware.
 The swarthy Artists sweating at the Forge
 Should draw, unasking, to their Help St.

GEORGE :

Carmen St. VINCENT have a Guardian Saint ; SAVIOR keep Sadlers safe ; LUKE those who paint.

Nay (b) JOB perhap for some had present been Who've done lewd Worship to the (c) Cyprean
 Queen ;

Since divers might, on Scrutiny, be found
 With aking Bones who hoarsly snuffle Sound !

These, and the rest, whom canonizing ROME
 Appoints o'er Craftsmen might in Vision come

V 2.

To

(b) Job.] JOB has the Honour of being esteem'd the Patron of such as have the Venereal Malady.

(c) Cyprean Queen.] VENUS, lewdly worshipp'd, in Old
 Time, in the Island of CYPRUS.

To Synod in the Sky;—and—(since so jar
Joiners with Joiners, Smiths on Smiths so war,
Bakers at Bakers drive; Wool-Combers spight
 Their Fellows; Coopers one another fight;
 That equal Perils from the mingled Rage
 Abide the Objects of their Patronage)——
 Resolve with one Accord to interpose,
 And by an honest Wile dishonest Discord close:
 That salutary Wile then in the Brain
 Of some sage FATHER, studious of the Main,
 Suggested might, through Vehicle of White,
 (Invention's Whet!) or Coffee Steam alight.
 Hence INDIGO, to counsel quick, nor slow
 Of Resolution, nor in Action low,
 Stout as TYDIDES, yet as NESTOR wise,
 Might,—thus inspir'd,—in close Cabal arise,
 And, confident of Trick-availing Skill,
 His Fluency of Tongue thus sweetly trill:

“ Copartners in the Cause, whose Blazonry
 “ The Heav'ns affect, as it adorns the Sky:
 “ Though

" Though would Occasion bid assert the Fray,
 " And with Mob Prowess vindicate the Day,
 " Yet past Events warn to beware the Course
 " Of Butcher Fury and of Porter Force.
 " The Foe of late — (Beshrew the Change!) —
 have quell'd [pell'd;
 " Our hardest Fists, and Bang with Bruise re-
 " And where a smuggled Odds, by dark Surprise, [Prize,
 " With Clubs in Ambush, would redeem the " Law, hamp'ring Law, — which oft' to (d) SOUTHGATE leads, [Heads.
 " Provok'd fell vengeful on our Champions
 " Remains it, then, that Policy take place,
 " Such as may compensate our last Disgrace.
 " For who forgets that yet o'er-clouding Shame
 " Of our so baulk'd, though well-laid, Stratagem, [Curtain drawn
 " Which we design'd - - - - - (But be a
 " On that Affair, a Night unknowing Dawn!)
 " But

(d) Southgate.] The Prison, or Goal, in its inferiour Den, for Felons of all Degrees, and in its upper Rooms for Debtors.

“ But did,—opprobrious to our thwarted Aim,
 “ The happier (e) RECTUS to the Chair reclaim,
 “ The Seat wherein HE, twice six Moons before,
 “ Our Envy, and the Publick’s Blessings, bore.
 “ HADDY,—you know, would his Ambition treat
 “ In filling — as if just!— our Chieftan Seat.
 “ Be ’t ours with Guile to disappoint a View
 “ That with the Yellow would o’ertop the Blue.
 “ Strength were at best precarious ; nor we may “ Now hope Adjournment to atchieve Delay.
 “ ’Tis gone from JACINTH to prorogue the Poll,
 “ Then in the Dark for Mercenaries prowl.
 “ And RECTUS, who as yet the Rudder guides, “ Though mild and courteous, stiff in Justice prides :

“ With

(e) Rectus.] Mr. SYMONDS, a Gentleman of the worst Character, who was at this Time Mayor ; having been elected the preceding Year (when he had been set up only as a Stalkinghorse, to facilitate the Choice of another, though he had honourably discharg’d the Office but one Year before.

" With Heart entire, and resolute in Right,
 " No Wheadles lure him, no Pretences bite.
 " As soon the PRUSSIAN, charm'd with FLEU-RY's Aim, [Claim,
 " To BERGUES and JULIERS shall renounce his
 " And, drain'd of fierce Disgust, the PORTE
 allow
 " The envy'd RUSS to keep her OCZAKOW :
 " As soon the DUTCH give selfish Treaties o'er,
 " And SPAIN our Shipping uncompell'd restore ; [Right,
 " FRANCE toil officious in dup'd AUSTRIA'S
 " And SWEDEN aid, to get but Thank-ye by't.
 " PULT'NY as soon shall on Sir ROBRET fawn,
 " And PATRICK's Dean turn Sneak for Sleeves } of Lawn, }
 " As warpleſs RECTUS will aside be drawn.]
 " No :—other Management, preſage I, would
 " Be his than that when manag'd JACINTH rul'd.
 " Wiſe Caution guide, then ; nor on windy Cry,
 " Nor ſpecious Colour, ever more rely.

“ ’Tis

- " 'Tis in our Hands, though Scruples might forbid,
 " Our Cause from Hazard of Relapse to rid
 " Were once more HADDY to fair Chance preferr'd,
 " HADDY, the Idol of the hated Herd !
 " My Heart forebodes, our Fraud and Force
 were vain ; [again.
 " Theirs were the Glory, ours the Shame
 " But HE aside,—we may to Use apply
 " Old (f) EXPLETIVE, — a Tool, for Years fet by ;
 " But well reserv'd for such convenient Hour,
 " To chear our Blue,—and daunt the Yellow Pow'r.
 " My Sentence is propos'd. Advise, if ye
 " Have apter Counsel, or with mine agree."

Thus closing might he fit. And MAZARINE,
 Slow rising, might next in Oration shine,

More

(f) Expletive.] Mr. CULME, who had been long thrown aside, and was at this critical Season pitch'd on but to serve an End.

More sage in Youth than if ULYSSES' Pate
On green TELEMACHUS's Shoulders fate,
And thus address'd :-- " Ye, Conscript Fathers, right
" On Me for safe Direction fix your Sight,
" For a Dictator fram'd. And well ye know
" What Benefits to my Advice ye owe,
" Whose Chin, scarce conscious of the Razor's Edge,
" Yea ere its woolly Down began to fledge,
" For Years have, to your Wisdom's Praise, averr'd
" You mete not Sapience by Length of Beard.
" How large could I in pompous Strains declare
" The Greatness of my future Reigning Year.
" But Time shall speak ;--And, in laconic Style,
" Be pleas'd to know :--I recommend the Wile :
" Be EXPLETIVE your present Shift, since vain
" This Season were my Enterprize to reign :
" Whereas Twelve Months improv'd aright may clear
" An Ope for sure Accession to the Chair."

X

Thus

Thus might the venerable Daniel end,
 And none reply, but, backing, to commend:
 With Glee the Junto might adopt the Scheme,
 And voted Thanks resound his Sense supreme:
 Reduc'd to Practice the Design take place,
 And sit in Chamber with demure Grimace.

Such, say we, might, if not aware that Skill
 And Strength would fail a too advent'rous Will,
 Nor (g) Audience fit unhop'd, we here assay. }
 But lest we blunder in wild Paths astray, }
 We'll still pursue the best-known safer Way. }

¶ The Sun now, shaping duly South his Tour,
 Marks on true Dials Low Life's (h) Dining-Hour.

The

(g) Audience fit.] According to MILTON's very necessary Petition to URANIA, "Fit Audience find, though few."

(h) Low Life's Dining.] Twelve o'Clock, when the Vulgar or simple Sort, such of them as have any Thing to eat, particularly Journeymen Helliers, Masons, Joiners, Smiths, Taylors, &c. precisely go to Dinner: Of some of whom it has been observ'd, or pretended to have been observ'd, that at the very first Stroke of the Clock, they have left Strokes of their own unfinish'd. ☞ To prevent cavilling Criticks, we must here note, that tho' the Freemen are by us allow'd
 to

The Thralls in SOUTHGATE have, with tir'd
Ado,

Fish'd up almost Three-half-pence with the Shoe.

At WESTGATE Clowns lean awkward on their Rods,

[nods ;
And, gaping, wait 'till (i) MATTHEW MILLAR
Nor little strange at the mysterious Case,

A Millar should thus wear a Collier's Face.

Clocks bless'd ! found Cupboard : Good-wives
Belows ply :

Boys spring from School, sharp-set, with Exstasy.
Post-Office Window, flap ! claps to : In vain
Posters with Letters to save Twopence strain :

X 2 .

For

to be, all or most, in and about the Guildhall on the Business of the Day, yet Numbers of Journeymen, &c. may be, and indeed are, Strangers, and such as are not Free. Besides, Noon indifferently, at any Time, is here intended to be thus described.

(i) Matthew the Millar.] One of the Images at the Tower of St. Mary Steps, which, nodding its Head by Clockwork, seems to assist in the Chimes, which play at 4, 8, and 12. They call him the Millar, tho' by his black Complexion --[but since the writing this Poem new painted]-- he should seem to have been rather a Collier than a Millar.

For (k) STANNAWAY,-- or Yokefellow in lieu,
More forward, smiles the running Gain to view.
Now Trowels back unus'd the Mortar throw,
Half-driv'n remains the Nail with Half a Blow.
Smiths drop the mounted Sledge, and Cross'd-
Legs leap [yard step,
From Shopboard, and to Cooks or (l) Church-
The Conclave opes: Th' Affairs of Secret end ; Furr'd Gowns to grace the Nether Bench
descend :

But on the Stairs, until some narrow Way
Opes for Access, prolong uneasy Stay.
As Armies, disciplin'd to Action, nerve
Their harras'd Ranks with Bodies of Reserve,
Impetuous in, at once; Outstanders break,
With Voice unbroke, obstrep'rous, to the Freak.

To

(k) Stannaway.] Precisely at Twelve is shut the Post-Office Wooden Casement; outside waits Mr. STANNAWAY, Post to Honiton, or his Wife, to receive Letters (for each of which he has 2d.) to be put into the Bag at Honiton. [NOTE, We speak of the Time when the Poem was written.]

(1) Churchyard, &c.] Here, they tell us, (I suppose jocularly) Taylors spend their Noon Hour, when they have no Dinner save Air.

To drill a Pafs now seems Sampsonian Toil, Though Staffs of high Commiffion plowing
 moil,
 Thofe magic Staffs which hidden Treasure find,
 And evil Spirits from Night-walking bind ;
 The Staffs which dare thump ope robuftest
 Door ;
Staffs which wrong-fided Drunkards fink before.

Work now Heads, Elbows, Knees, Heels,
 Breasts, and Backs,
 Till by detorting Jerks the Cieling cracks !
 And, as stretch'd Boots on forcive (m) Trees extend
 Dimenfion, Walls extruded feem to bend.
 The graceful Portrait of the (n) Princely Dame,
 ISCA's fair Native, fhudders in the Frame.

MONK

(m) Trees.] Viz. Bootmakers Trees, fo called.

(n) Princely Dame.] In the Guildhall are at full Length the Portraits of his prefent Majefty K. GEORGE II.---of the Princefs HENRIETTA MARIA, Daughter of K.
 CHARLES I ſhe being a Native of the City ;---and of
 Gen. MONK, Earl of Albemarle, a Devonfhire Man born.

MONK eke in Picture shakes, as if the Nose
 Of (o) NOLL with Vengeance to his Seeming rose.
 Ev'n (p) CÆSAR, whose heroic Soul no Awe
 E'er felt when He grim Danger instant saw,
 CÆSAR, who on infanguin'd (q) BELGIA's Plain,
 And his own raging and (r) rebellious Main,
 Shew'd CHURCHILL's Self more how quick
 Fate to brave,
 And WAGER to sustain the (s) wrackful Wave;
 CÆSAR, who dares, by Justice led, defy Leagued FRANCE and SPAIN, though flum-bers neuter by
 The lull'd, seduc'd, ingrateful, (t) old Ally;
 BRITANNIA's CÆSAR, with majestic Fear,
 In painted Image, seems the Shock to hear.

The

(o) NOLL.] OLIVER CROMWELL, wont to be call'd OLD NOLL, and his Nose esteem'd notable.

(p) Cæsar.] The Picture of K. GEORGE II. just above already mentioned.

(q) Viz. When he was Prince of Hanover, and fought in the Army commanded by the Duke of Marlborough, &c.

(r) His Britannick Majesty being asserted Sovereign of the British Seas.

(s) Alluding to the dangerous Passage from Holland, in which his Majesty with Admiral WAGER had like to have been cast away.

(t) The Dutch.

The (u) Lion, trembling as if heard below
 At once the (x) GLOBE's collected (y) Cocks to crow)
 Threats to desert his Post, and, with his Mate
 Of single Horn, resign the Shield to Fate.
 Bodies, on either Side, contiguous drove,
Incorporate ev'n to the Letter prove,
 That from aloft Imagination dreads
 Two Human Hydras with Two Thousand Heads.
 Ten cashless Debtors in that dreary Cave
 Yclep'd the (z) SHOE more free a Breathing have.

SCRUPLE

(u) Lion, &c.] The Lion, Supporter of the King's Arms fix'd over the Mayor's Seat.

(x) Globe.] The GLOBE Tavern, where Cock-fighting is often held.---[i. e. was often held at or about the Time of Writing this Poem.]

(y) Cocks.] According to antiently receiv'd Notion, (but a Vulgar and exploded Error) living Lions used to tremble on hearing a Cock crow; as, on the other Hand, Bulls would shed their Urine, for very Dread, on hearing a Lion's Roar; how truly let others say.

(z) The Shoe.] So is call'd a little close Room in Southgate Prison, where such poor insolvent Debtors as can't pay for Lodgings, are [i. e. have been] crowded, or crush'd in together. It seems to have received its Denomination from the Privilege they, in Turn, have of begging Charity of Passers by, they by a Cord letting down an Old Shoe to receive the same.

(a) SCRUPLE the just, who Raisin bites in twain,
That Scales do upright Justice to a Grain,
Ne'er bought at WEYHILL, nor retail'd in Shop,
More flat, compact, in turgid Sack, the Hop;
Nor Smoke-cur'd Herrings he imbarrel'd chose
For like Compression of their squatted Roes.
Bellies protuberant and Shoulders crump
Expect to lose their Prominence and Hump.
Heart, Lights, and Liver, fore Constriction
moan ; [wels groan.
Punch'd Bosoms murmur, and squelsh'd Bo-
Some Galligaskins to the helpless Nose
The mimick'd (b) Gulon's bruise'd Relief disclose.

Damnorian

(b) Scruple the Just.] A good old Justice, renown'd for Strictness, and upright holding his Shop Scales, &c. &c.

(c) Gulon.] This being a most voracious Beast, when he has a Carcass larger than would serve for one Meal, he never stirs from the Place till he has dispatch'd the whole, unless that, when he is full cram'm'd, and can hold no more, he goes to find two Trees very close together, through the Interval whereof he drags and squeezes his Body; and so he gets rid of what he before devour'd, in order immediately to fall to again.

Danmonian Swains their grinded Apple press
To force Pomaceous Wine with Effort less
Than which the Stronger of the Wedg'd assay
For their PATRICIANS a progressive Way ;
Yet all the Void the gen'ral Squeeze may boast Proves but an Alley's Six-Inch Wedth at most ;
Whose (c) tott'ring Sides, fway'd by th' elastic Load,
Next Moment close, and choak the petty Road;
Thro' which as, fideling, rubb'd, the Robes recur,
To grating Buttons they translate the Fur.

The CONSCRIPT SIREs their arduous Tug complete,
And puffing gain their safe and restful Seat ;
There to dilate anew the streighten'd Breast,
And meditate a compensating Feast ;

Y

Where

(c) Tottering Sides.] Meaning the Constables and strong Men who compose the Sides of the little Lane thus so difficultly made ; and scarcely save themselves from being over-powered.

Where, whilst go (d) meliorated Bumpers round,
The Hours shall with augmenting Glee be crown'd,

Till (e) Sir John Adee, late, by Minstrel's Tongue,

[sung.
And (f) Zwopping-Mallard by their own, be
Severe (g) APOLLO on a Tide may laugh,
And Jove on Gala's crank with Godlings quaff.

So (durst we, as your topping Poets dare,
A low-life Brute with lofty Man compare)

A

(d) Meliorated.] By this Word hangs a Tale of a facetious Alderman deceas'd, who order'd an Attendant to pour out half a Glas of Cyder, but withal bad him meliorate it, pointing to a Decanter of Port Wine: And having taken it off, turns to a Brother Alderman, yet existing, ---[But died long since; which I now write in Year 1770.]--- in State by him smoaking his Pipe, saying, Do you know what meliorating a Thing is, Mr. Alderman?---“ Know what 'tis? replies the Sage, nodding his wife Head, “ Yes, yes, I know what 'tis: 'Tis Port and Cyder.

(e) Sir John Adee.] See before pa. Note ().

(f) Zwopping Mallard.] Another favourite old Chamber Song, first introduced and usually sung by the grave Recorder himself.

(g) Apollo, &c.] Alluding to Semel in anno ridet Apollo, &c.

(b) A tabby Tygreſs of familiar Race
 Wiredraws her Loins thro' ſome ſtrict Cranny's Space,
 In Dread off-ſtrip'd her furry Dreſs to find,
 And even Half her Intrails left behind :
 But, after panting in enlarged Room,
 Revives her Hope to meet a counter Doom ;
 Her ſwelling Womb extends its flatten'd Frame,
 Well-ſcented Cates her eager Guſt inflame :
 Or, haply, ſhe may with erected Ear
 The Squeek of luſcious Game domeſtic hear, }
 Nor doubt e'er long a Feaſt of Ven'ſon Cheer. }

Augmented Outcries Strength of Whirlwinds blow,
 Threat'ning the heaving Roofs' puff'd Over- [throw.
 Not when, on Birth-days, loyal Powder roars
 In joyous Union through train'd Muſket-Bores
 Of full Battalion, e'er a Burſt ſo loud
 Was heard to ſhatter an impending Cloud.

Y 2

The

(b) Tabby Tygreſs, &c.] Meaning a Houſhold Cat.

The Welkin skrink, and starting Air around
 Fears a Vulcanian Rupture of the Ground.
 Command for Silence bids the Tempest swell;
 The Word repeated does the Thing repel;
 For Silence! Silence! with extended Pow'r,
 From ev'ry Mouth resounding strive their Hour.

But Marshals, who (i) Stentorian Clamour
 strain

To quash the Storm, at last, a Pause obtain:
 Then "O--o-o- Y-e-s!-- longly drawl'd,--as Use decrees,

"That Free Men (of high, low, or, no Degrees)

"To choose a new Prime Magistrate draw nigh'r,

"And Aliens, to avoid the Jail, retire."

The sage (k) PROPRÆTOR, tho' exerted strong,
 Yet smooch his Accent, to the buzzing Throng,
 On

(i) Stentorian Clamour.] STENTOR, in the Grecian Army before Troy, is (at least poetically) recorded to have equal'd Fifty ordinary-Men in Loudness of Voice. Vid.
 HOM. II. lib. v. ver. 784. Or the mere English Reader may see POPE's Transl. ver. 976, &c. or see Juv. Sat. xiii.

(k) Proprætor.] The Recorder, Mr. Serj. B-lf---d.

On Tiptoes of Expectance, — All attent
 Their Ears as THEBES e'er to (l) AMPHION lent,
 To suck the Charms of dulcet Eloquence,
 Back'd with deep Knowledge and illumin'd Sense, —

Yields thus his Oral Musick: — “ Gen-tle-men,
 (Their Style To-day:--To-morrow Scrubs agen)--

“ Since has the MAY'R his Consulate gone
 through ;

[due !]

“ (For which, most worthily, our Thanks are

“ I must inform you,--(though already known)--

“ It's the fix'd Constitution of our Town,

“ When

(l) Amphion.] The Fable of his miraculous Lyre, at his playing on which the Stones which built the Walls of THEBES, danced to the Places where they should be lay'd, is reasonably suppos'd to have had no other Bottom than that when he invaded that Country, and carried Musick, which he had learn'd in LYDIA, then first into GREECE with him, the Melody was so admired for its Excellence and Novelty, that he easily engaged the People to carry on the Building whilst he diverted them with his Harp. Or it as probably means, that whereas they were before naturally rude and unciviliz'd, they were by his Eloquence induced to inhabit within the same, and live under Laws in Community together.

No Deed, no Word, no Look, betrays a Fear;
No Foot recedes; all Hands Resistance dare:
All to the Palm disputeless Title bring,
And, without Conquest, all Ovation ring.

Now lovely sounds the consentaneous Jar;
Now beautifully smiles, appeas'd, the War;
Now Party Battle proves a social Play;
Now Wraths turn Friendship, bent the self-same Way.

So Winds whose Force, by Winds oppos'd, might wage
A Storm, and lash the Main to furly Rage;
But one Point blowing, though with stronger
Gales,
Delight the belly'd and more speeded Sails.

Amazing Turn! -- Bells wak'd in Transport feel
Strange early Pulls exhort each flinging Wheel, Whose

Whose jocund Rounds the baffled Variance fun,

As thus the jokeful Confort seems to run : —

Victorious All !—yet none a Foe subdues !

The Yellows lost not,—though have won the Blues !

End of Canto VI. and of the Poem.

